

EXTRA SESSION THREAT GROWS STRONGER AS SPLIT OF PARTIES OVER RELIEF WIDENS

GANDHI FACTION SHATTERS HOPE FOR INDIAN PEACE

Progress Made by Lengthy Round Table Session Swept Aside by Resolutions of Committee.

CIVIL "REVOLT" WILL CONTINUE

The Mahatma Refuses to Recede From Any Point in Dictating Conditions for Tranquillity.

ALLAHABAD, India, Feb. 1.—(AP)—All hope for immediate peace in India was abandoned today as a result of the passage of resolutions by the working committee congress declaring unequivocally for continuance of the civil disobedience program.

The resolutions also declared for release of all political prisoners; picketing of cloth, drug and liquor shops; the right of peasants to make their own salt; and withdrawal of repressive government measures against national activities.

It is believed certain that these conditions, which were formulated by Mahatma Gandhi in consultation with his associates, will be rejected by the government.

Thus the optimistic atmosphere which was created at the recent round table conference in London evaporated less than a week after the release from prison of Gandhi.

Throughout the meetings of the congress working committee here Gandhi has exercised a dominating voice, insisting on the maximum conditions from the British empire before he will enter negotiations for peace.

The chances of the Indian round table delegates to alter the mahatma's decisions are regarded here as slight.

Talking with a representative of the Associated Press today, Gandhi said all members of the committee were unanimous in insisting that the present civil disobedience movement cannot be withdrawn or slackened unless government officials call off the repressive measures against the congress activities.

"It is obvious that a mass movement like the present one cannot suddenly and without reasonable hope of a final peace settlement be stopped nor can it be called off unless hope of settlement is shared by the vast mass of the people," he continued.

"This can never happen so long as the government's repression in its present virulent form continues."

Numerous instances.

Gandhi cited numerous instances in which alleged repressive acts by police, adding: "I don't see how it is possible to conduct peace negotiations with such repression fouling the atmosphere hour after hour."

The working committee in one of its resolutions today said:

"The public is reminded that picketing of foreign cloth, drug and liquor shops is in itself no part of the civil disobedience movement, but is an exercise of ordinary rights of citizens so long as it remains strictly peaceful and causes no obstruction to the public."

The committee further reminded sellers of foreign cloth and yarn and also congress workers that "the boycott of foreign cloth, being a vital necessity in the interest of the masses, is a permanent feature of the national activities and will remain so until the nation acquires power to exclude foreign cloth and foreign yarn from India, whether by total prohibition or by prohibitive tariff."

The boycott embraces not only British but American and all other foreign cloth and yarn.

ONE BURNED TO DEATH IN DISPUTE OVER BEEF

RAWALPINDI, India, Feb. 1.—

(AP)—A Muslim teacher in a boarding house today cooked a tiny meal of beef and thereby started a wild communal riot in a village 40 miles from here in which a native officer was burned alive and an undetermined number of persons were injured.

To the Muslims a cow is simply something to be eaten but to the Hindus it is a sacred animal and one for which they will fight.

When neighboring Hindus and Sikhs learned that the teacher was cooking beef they repudiated him.

Continued in Page 4, Column 8.

Dressmaking Helps

Sewing by hand is laborious. If your finances won't sanction a new sewing machine, why not look for a bargain in the want ads of The Constitution? Or if you want help on your new wardrobe consult the want ads for the services of a good dressmaker. And don't forget, many excellent values in wearing apparel are listed in these columns.

Read and Use
The Constitution's
Want Ad Pages

"First in the Day—First to Pay"

Mr. Groundhog To Creep Out And Look for Shadow Today

This shy little prophet of the season is slated to emerge from his winter quarters today and give Atlanta's weather situation the once-over.

If the groundhog sees his shadow today there will be six more weeks of winter. If it's dark and cloudy day, then spring is just around the corner.

Skeptics may scoff at all this, but the old groundhog theory is well founded. February 2 is the day the little animal is supposed to emerge and tell the folks the truth about the weather for the next month and a half; and those who don't believe him are bucking up against something that has come down through the ages.

For Atlanta and vicinity, it looks very much as if overcast will come in handy for the next six weeks, for the forecast for today is fair and slightly colder. Indications are that Sunday's almost cloudless skies will be duplicated today, and Mr. Groundhog in all likelihood will be able to see his shadow.

Continued in Page 4, Column 6.

IL DUCE ADMITS SEEING REPORTER HOUSE AND SENATE BEGIN FIGHT TODAY

Mussolini Met Vanderbilt But Did Not Ride With Him, Office Explains.

ROME, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Italian foreign office, which last week was quoted as saying that Premier Mussolini had never met Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., said today it did not mean the premier had not met Vanderbilt but merely that he had not ridden with him.

This was in connection with the affair which has caused Major General Smedley D. Butler of the United States marines to be summoned for court-martial. Butler is accused of implying that Mussolini was a hit-and-run driver and is said to have based his account on the story of a motor ride Vanderbilt took with the premier.

Vanderbilt had an audience with Premier Mussolini about five years ago, said a foreign office statement, "but it merely was a brief audience such as hundreds of foreigners have been granted."

"We wish to reiterate emphatically that Vanderbilt never has been driven in an automobile by Premier Mussolini."

COLORFUL PERSONALITIES TO CLASH IN COURT-MARTIAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—

Two colorful personalities who worked side by side in the navy department years ago will be pitted against each other in the court-martial of Major General Smedley D. Butler.

Captain William C. Watts, prosecution counsel, and Major Henry Leonard, defense counsel, were together in the navy judge advocate general's office in 1918.

Watts was judge advocate general and Leonard was his assistant. They untangled many naval legal problems together.

"The prosecution paid us a fine compliment," Leonard said today, "when they selected Willie Watts as counsel."

Butler, who was ordered court-martialed for remarks he was quoted as making about Premier Mussolini of Italy, remained in seclusion today at Quantico, Va., marine base, as he awaited the formal charges against him.

The charges are expected some time this week. The prosecution and defense then will prepare their cases.

Where and when the proceedings will be held have not been made known.

Continued in Page 4, Column 5.

Royal Brothers Remain on Board As Liner Calls Briefly at Havana

HAVANA, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales and Prince George, who are traveling to South America as royal drummers, were in Havana this forenoon on the liner Oropesa but left for Jamaica without disembarking.

The Oropesa steamed into the harbor at 6:40 a. m. and left for Kingston, the next stop, at 11:44 a. m.

As the Oropesa floated in it was followed by the Duchess of Bedford, which broke out all its flags, and the passengers lined the decks for a glimpse of the princes.

Despite the earliness of the hour thousands of Cubans and tourists lined the docks and seawalls but the liner merely dropped anchor in the center of the harbor while immigration and customs officials boarded her.

As the boat left, however, the Prince of Wales came on deck and waved to some 2,000 persons, among them many members of the British colony, who were clustered on Morro Castle's heights.

STATE'S ECONOMIC AILMENTS BLAMED ON TAXATION PLAN

State's Progress Depends on Abandonment of Uni- form Property Tax, As- sociation Survey Says.

Georgia's economic, educational and industrial progress depends upon abandonment of the uniform general property tax, adoption of an effective budget system, establishment of a modern tax commission, and consolidation and sharp reduction of the number of local governmental units, according to a survey made public Sunday by the Georgia Tax Revision Association.

In a new pamphlet entitled, "How Georgia Ranks and Why," which deals intimately with the relative standing of Georgia with other states in the southeast, the association points out that during 1929, 150 counties of Georgia received more from the state than they paid to it in property, poll and professional taxes. This part of the survey shows that while Fulton county paid into the state treasury $1,456,883.26, five other counties paid less than $5,000 each. Fulton county's percentage of the total revenue turned over to the state was 24; eight counties combined paid another 25 per cent; 39 counties combined paid 28 per cent; 80 other counties, 21 per cent and 33 counties combined 4 per cent.

"Nine counties," the pamphlet sets forth, "pay one-half of the total state taxes in Georgia. One hundred and thirteen counties combined pay only one-fourth, or about the same as the one county of Fulton pays. Many counties receive from the state treasury twice or three times as much as they pay into it. One county received $5 for every $1 it paid."

Under the subcaption, "Some Unpleasant Facts," the association's pamphlet contended that Georgia ranks first in the number of children employed, 47th in the percentage of children employed, 47th in the number of days in school; second in the number of illiterates, and sixth in the percentage of illiterates.

"In 1929 there were more than 60,000 native white Georgians who could not read or write," the association survey states. "More than 20,000 white men working to support their families could not indorse their pay checks."

Another chapter of the survey, dealing with Georgia's rank in per capita expenditures for education and other public purposes, revealed the following standings:

Georgia ranks forty-eighth among all other states in per capita expenditures for education, health and sanitation.

Continued in Page 4, Column 7.

U. S. Joins Conference Of Allies and New Hope Results From Parley

Clemenceau Adopts Vigorous War Policy— Pershing Sees 24 Divisions as Minimum U. S. Strength Needed—Peace Sentiment in England—Depressing Effect on British Morale.

BY GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING.

(Copyright, 1931, by the North American Newspaper Alliance. World rights reserved, including the Scandinavian in whole or part prohibited.)

CHAPTER XXII.

An American mission headed by Colonel E. M. House arrived in France toward the end of November for an inter-allied conference. Other members of the mission were Admiral W. S. Benson, General Tasker H. Bliss, chief of staff; Oscar T. Crosby for the treasury department; Vance McCormick, chairman of the war trade board; Bainbridge Colby, shipping board; Alonzo E. Taylor, Thomas N. Perkins, war industries and Paul Cravath.

This conference had been planned before the meeting of prime ministers at Rapallo which brought the supreme war council into existence. It was one of those assemblies of allied representatives held occasionally for the discussion of problems of common interest concerning the conduct of the war. Its purpose in the present instance was to consider the most efficient means by which the resources in men and material of allied countries, including the United States, could be utilized.

In an early, informal discussion with Mr. House and General Bliss I gave them an outline of our situation, our relations with the allies, the progress of our plans, and put before them our urgent need for men and material of all sorts.

As the representatives of different nationalities gathered in Paris recent reports of decreasing losses of ocean tonnage and greater destruction of German submarines, with prospects of still further improvement, seemed to give more of hopefulness in the general situation, and allied spirits were somewhat revived.

The British had won at Cambrai and were making satisfactory progress in their advance on Jerusalem, which it was said, would be facilitated by the use of their new base at Jaffa. The Italians seemed to have recovered their morale to a limited extent, with the stiffening of their lines by British and French divisions, and had successfully held their own against the Austrian attack on the Piave.

In Switzerland the economic concessions by the United States as to cotton and credits were hailed with satisfaction, which, coupled with exports by the French, made it practically certain that Switzerland would remain neutral, although there had been a noticeable increase in pro-German sentiment there following the Italian disaster, with talk of a possible withdrawal of all sorts.

Continued in Page 6, Column 6.

Murder Charged to Wife by Georgian

J. F. Walker (left), in jail at Folkston, Ga., charged by his wife with assault with intent to murder, arson, manufacturing liquor and hog-stealing; in another cell is Mrs. Walker (center), a grandmother, who is charged with the murder of two infant grandchildren, and in still another cell is Elsie Walker (right), a son, held for manufacturing liquor, with a son-in-law, Lipton Wildes, who is free under bond. Warrants against the quartet were sworn out Saturday following a commitment hearing on Mrs. Walker's charge that her husband attempted to kill her. Walker, retaliating, said that his wife had killed two children. Other charges also grew out of statements of the two at the hearing. Bones of one of the children were found in a well near the Walker home, according to officers.

Cannon in Hospital As Trial Date Nears

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, who is to answer charges filed against him by fellow-churchmen on Tuesday, is a patient at Sibley hospital.

Hospital attaches declined to reveal the nature or seriousness of his illness. They referred inquiries to Bishop Cannon's physician, Dr. Roy L. Sexton. He could not be reached.

A board of 12 clergymen of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, is scheduled to convene Tuesday to hear Cannon's answer to charges brought against him by four traveling elders of the church.

TALBOTTON PAYS HONOR TO STRAUSS

Village of Philanthro- pist's Boyhood Remem- bers Him as Lovable Lad

BY B. R. CRISLER, Staff Correspondent.

TALBOTTON, Ga., Feb. 1.—The tiny village of Talbotton Sunday night paid homage to the memory of a world figure whom it saw, not as a merchant-prince whose decrees once re-echoed upon the exchange of Paris, London and New York, but as a sharp-witted, fun-loving schoolboy with unruly black hair, twinkling eyes, and the habit of winking at marbles. That boy was the late Nathan Strauss.

When destiny brought him from Rhenish Bavaria to this southern hamlet which, during his entire life, was to be called "home," he was just another Jewish immigrant lad, full of dreams, no doubt, and extravagant visions of the future, and all those lofty ambitions which have driven him race onward and upward through the ages. But, in Talbotton's matter-of-fact eyes he was just a lovable six-year-old, Jewish lad. It was on this basis that the people of Talbotton accepted him, and it was this lad to whom in their hearts they paid tribute Sunday night in services marked by that beauty which resides in simplicity alone.

An even more reverent and heartfelt tribute perhaps was lavishly reserved for the later Strauss, the Straus of the thousand and one philanthropies, the Strauss who sometimes removed his own garment to clothe the poor, and who did so much to relieve the sick and the suffering. The services, held in the Talbotton Baptist church, which stands upon the site formerly occupied by the old church where "Nath" attended Sunday school and was taught by special dispensation, from the Old Testament only, were dedicated primarily to the philanthropist and the great humanitarian.

But it was the schoolboy Strauss who figured in the conversation of old-timers who gathered in a select little group on the main street to warm their hands at the fires of memory.

"Think of everything that is good and noble," said C. W. Kimbrough, 72-year-old school mate of Oscar Strauss, the brother of Nathan, who was later to become minister to Turkey, "and you think of Nath."

But Frank M. Bethune, 82, who was 12 years old when Nathan Strauss died at his northern home Sunday at the age of 88. He had contributed his pension since 1907 anonymously, his identity having been disclosed when the fund had grown to more than $5,000.

The plaque unveiled in the library of the home reads: "To a brave foe who was in heart a friend." Colonel Wray was born in New York and when the Civil War broke out enlisted in the artillery and retired as a lieutenant colonel. He was for many years manager of the Commercial Union Company of London, at Patchogue.

Continued in Page 7, Column 2.

'Friendly Enemy' of Gray Veterans Dies in Long Island at Age of 88

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—

Forecast: Georgia—Partly cloudy, slightly warmer in central and northern portions Monday; Tuesday increasing cloudiness, possibly occasional rain. Moderate east and southeast winds.

South Carolina—Partly cloudy Monday; Tuesday increasing cloudiness, possibly occasional rain; moderate east and southeast winds.

Florida—Fair Monday; Tuesday increasing cloudiness, possibly followed by occasional rain in north portion; moderate east winds.

Tennessee—Partly cloudy, warmer in central and east portions Monday, probably followed by occasional rain Monday night and Tuesday.

Alabama and Extreme Northwest Florida—Cloudy Monday; local rain Monday night and Tuesday.

Continued in Page 4, Column 6.

'NO COMPROMISE' BOTH SIDES CRY IN RELIEF FIGHT

Despite Firmness of Stands Both Camps Are Believed Seeking Way To Avoid Special Call.

SHOWDOWN SEEN FOR THIS WEEK

Only Four Weeks of Reg- ular Session Remain and Many Supply Bills Re- main Unpassed.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON, WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—

Administration and democratic leaders stood doggedly by their positions today in the deadlock over relief legislation with an extra session of the new congress impending.

House republican chieftains hastened to disavow suggestions for a compromise on the $25,000,000 Red Cross relief appropriation—the keystone of the democratic program.

Senate democratic leaders said they had nothing to add to their statement that some federal appropriation for relief must be given or an extra session will be forced.

However, despite the bold front of the leaders, this new and tense contest between President Hoover and the rebellious senate there were evidences of a movement in the ranks of each side looking to a settlement which will eliminate necessity of an extra session.

Conferences will be started this week between the senate and house on the dispute. Only four weeks remain before the March 4 adjournment. A showdown before the end of the week is looked for.

Backed by Hoover.

President Hoover, who is strongly opposed to an extra session of the new congress, which will be almost evenly divided politically, is standing behind the republican leaders who have accepted the democratic challenge for the special meeting.

Senator Watson of Indiana, the republican leader, who yesterday formally accepted the challenge, today said he had nothing to add. He indicated support from the president on his stand.

Meanwhile, Senator Caraway, democrat, of Arkansas, prepared to go before the senate tomorrow in an attack upon the republican position.

The measure of Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, proposing a $25,000,000 federal relief appropriation to the Red Cross was supported originally in the senate by republicans, including the independent bloc which has combined with the democrats consistently in a majority against republican policies.

Whether Robinson can keep this united front on a showdown involving an extra session is problematical, but he was given assurance of united support from his party at a caucus on Friday. The senate democrats can admittedly forestall passage of any appropriations for government operation before the March 4 adjournment and thereby force an extra session.

Six Passed.

Six of the measures supplying funds for next year's government expenditures have passed both the senate and house and are now in conference. Included among these is the urgent deficiency bill making more than $120,000,000 immediately available, much of it for construction work.

House leaders have contemplated a general resolution continuing in effect for another year this year's appropriations but it is conceded this could not get through a senate blockade any more than could the regular supply bills without some democratic support.

Although the leaders boldly disclaim any compromise, already such a proposition is being sounded out. The proposal would provide for an appropriation of $10,000,000 or $15,000,000 to be made available to a government agency and to be used for relief upon direction of the president in event of an extreme emergency.

The proposal of Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, to turn over 20,000,000 bushels of wheat held by the farm board for use in the drought areas also is included in the democratic program but this, too, faces house opposition.

Continued in Page 4, Column 6.

The Weather PARTLY CLOUDY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—

Forecast: Georgia—Partly cloudy, slightly warmer in central and northern portions Monday; Tuesday increasing cloudiness, possibly occasional rain. Moderate east and southeast winds.

South Carolina—Partly cloudy Monday; Tuesday increasing cloudiness, possibly occasional rain; moderate east and southeast winds.

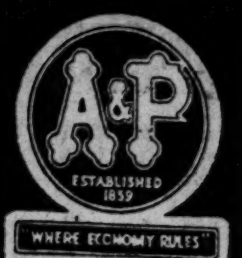

Florida—Fair Monday; Tuesday increasing cloudiness, possibly followed by occasional rain in north portion; moderate east winds.

Tennessee—Partly cloudy, warmer in central and east portions Monday, probably followed by occasional rain Monday night and Tuesday.

Alabama and Extreme Northwest Florida—Cloudy Monday; local rain Monday night and Tuesday.

Continued in Page 4, Column 6.

GRANDMOTHER'S Tea Rolls

ALL THIS WEEK at the very EXCEPTIONALLY LOW PRICE OF

5c PER DOZ.

Serve Piping Hot!

GRANDMOTHER'S BREAD

PAN LOAF 16-OZ. 7c
SANDWICH 20-OZ. LOAF 9c
WHOLE WHEAT 18-OZ. LOAF 10c

15c SALE

OLEOMARGARINE
PURITY NUT LB. 15c
WHITE HOUSE—EVAPORATED
MILK 2 TALL CANS 15c
ENGLISH
WALNUTS POUND 15c

A&P TINY PEAS No. 2 Can 15c
CHUM SALMON 2 No. 3 Cans 15c
PINTO BEANS 3 Lbs. 15c
SUNBRITE CLEANSER 3 Cans 15c
SPARKLE Gelatine Dessert 2 Pkgs. 15c
CORN MEAL OR GRITS 5 Lbs. 15c
KETCHUP Quaker Maid 14-Oz. Bottle 15c
KEROSENE OIL Gallon 15c
CONDENSED MILK A&P or Dime Brand, Can 15c
QUICK OATS A&P 2 Cartons 15c
IONA PEARS No. 2 Can 15c
RICE Fancy Whole Grain 3 Lbs. 15c
SPICES A&P Assorted 2 Boxes 15c
LIBBY'S POTTED MEATS 2 Cans 15c
MACARONI Spaghetti or Noodles Encore 2 Pkgs. 15c

SOAP

Medium Ivory ... Lifebuoy 2 CAKES 15c
Lux Toilet ... Octagon Toilet
Octagon Floating ... Palmolive
P & G SOAP 4 Cakes 15c
OLD DUTCH 2 Cans 15c

Vegetables & Fruits

FLORIDA—Sweet, Juicy
GRAPEFRUIT 5 for 15c
Fresh—Crisp Turnip
GREENS 2 LBS. 15c
California Snowball
CAULIFLOWER LB. 15c
Large Bunches
TURNIPS 2 FOR 15c
Large Size Florida
GRAPEFRUIT 3 FOR 15c

At A&P Meat Markets

FRESH SHOULDER
PORK STEAK Lb. 17c SMOKED
BACON SQUARES Lb. 15c
SAUSAGE Devonshire Link 1-Lb. Carton 23c
FRESH BEEF LIVER Lb. 20c
BEEF CHUCK STEAK Lb. 23c

SOUTHERN PUBLISHERS MEET IN CHATTANOOGA

Newspapermen Choose Asheville as Summer Convention City.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Asheville, N. C., was chosen as the summer convention city of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association at the opening business session of the annual midwinter gathering of officers and directors held here today. The date for the Asheville convention was set for June 29 and 30 and July 1 and headquarters will be at the Grove Park Inn.

The directors spent most of Sunday morning in sightseeing trips to Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge. Immediately after lunch a business session was held at which matters important to the publishers were discussed.

Among subjects taken under consideration were problems of advertising, both local and national. A special committee headed by Enoch Brown, Jr., of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, reported on the advertising subject.

Labor matters, insurance rates, fluctuation of newspaper prices and rulings of the postoffice department affecting lottery advertising were also taken up. A buffet supper was tendered the delegates tonight by Cranston Williams, secretary-manager of the association, and Mrs. Williams at their home, Windsor Court.

The business sessions will be concluded tomorrow. Officers of the association are: President, J. S. Parks, Fort Smith (Ark.); Times-Record and Southwest-American; chairman of the board, Colonel Robert Ewing, New Orleans States; treasurer, Walter C. Johnson, Chattanooga News.

The directors are: James E. Chapell, Birmingham News and Age-Herald; K. A. Engel, Little Rock Democrat; L. C. Brown, St. Petersburg Independent; Clark Howell, Jr., Atlanta

Two Promoted by Ernst & Ernst

G. C. KAULBACH.

D. R. PAIGE.

A. N. Patton, manager of the Atlanta office of Ernst & Ernst, nationally known accountants, has announced the appointment of G. C. Kaulbach and D. R. Paige as assistant managers.

Mr. Kaulbach was transferred to Atlanta from Cincinnati as contract manager in 1929, shortly after the opening of the Atlanta office. He is a member of the Capital City Club, Palestine lodge, and of the North Avenue Presbyterian church. Mr. Paige was transferred to Atlanta from the Detroit office of Ernst & Ernst, about four years ago. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Paige is a member of the Atlanta Athletic Club, a Mason, and a member of the North Avenue Presbyterian church.

FUTURE OF RED CROSS AT STAKE, SAYS PAYNE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The future welfare of the Red Cross was said tonight by Chairman John Barton Payne to depend upon success in the $10,000,000 drought relief campaign.

"Success in this effort—a demonstration that the Red Cross can continue to succeed by voluntary aid and is not dependent upon a public appropriation," Payne said, "is essential to the future life of the Red Cross." Speaking over the National Broadcasting Company network during Collier's radio hour, the Red Cross head said his organization must have "the continued and active support of the public" to accomplish its task.

Seek Counterfeiters.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Interior department officials said tonight that Mexican secret service men were co-operating with American detectives along the international boundary to find a counterfeiting plant which has been flooding American border states with fake American bank notes.

For Your Lawn

Evergreen Lawn Grass, 35c Lb.; 3 Lbs., $1.00

Shady-Lawn Grass Mixture, 40c Lb.

Sheep Manure, 100 Lbs., $2.50; 50 Lbs., $1.35; 25 Lbs., 75c

Bone Meal, 100 Lbs., $2.75; 50 Lbs., $1.50; 25 Lbs., 90c

Cottongim's

93 Broad St., S. W.

PIGGLY WIGGLY

ONIONS 5 LBS. YELLOW ... 11c
5 LBS. WHITE ... 13c

NO. 2 CAN SWAN
Turnip Greens EA. 12½¢ Matches 3 BOXES 10¢

MEATWICH SPREAD FINE FOR SANDWICHES EA. 10¢

RUTABAGAS MEDIUM SIZE CANADIANS LB. 2¢

Tomato Soup 3 FOR 25¢ OLD DUTCH Cleanser 3 FOR 25¢

LIBBY'S TALL CANS
MILK 3 FOR 25¢ Chipso SMALL SIZE EA. 9¢

FANCY BUNCH
COLLARDS OR SPRING ONIONS EA. 6¢

VELVO—A PURE SANTOS
COFFEE LB. 25¢ NO. 2 CAN STAND-ARD PEAS EA. 10¢

GREEN CABBAGE MEDIUM SIZE LB. 3¢

NO. 2 CAN—"FINE FOR PIES"
Blackberries EA. 15¢ CORN NO. 2 CAN STANDARD EA. 10¢

LIBBY'S PICKLES TINY SWEET TINY SOUR SWEET MIXED ONIONS YOUR CHOICE 10¢

OUTSTANDING VALUES IN OUR QUALITY MARKETS

SUGAR-CURED
PICNIC HAMS SHANK OFF LB. 15¢

TENDER, JUICY
Chuck Steak LB. 23¢ Sliced Lean Shoulder Pork Steak LB. 17¢

LARGE JUICY
Wieners LB. 17¢ Little Pig Pork Breakfast Sausage LB. 20¢

ATLANTA WAR VETS ON MACON PROGRAM

MACON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Five officers of the United Spanish-American War Veterans from Atlanta, constituting a degree team, performed a model initiation ceremony at an open meeting of Joe Wheeler camp here Sunday afternoon.

The degree team was in charge of Barney Baruch, senior vice commander of the department of Georgia. The following past post commanders took part: John P. Hanson, Ralph Stekel, A. C. Bellamy and A. M. Beck. Mr. Baruch explained at the open meeting that the purpose was to "show that the Spanish-American War Veterans is not a pension-chasing organization, but a fraternal body."

Herbert T. Smart is the new commander of the Joe Wheeler post.

Alfonso Back Home.

MADRID, Feb. 1.—(AP)—King Alfonso returned today from a week's hunting trip in south Spain, and his arrival aroused renewed interest in the political situation arising out of the elections scheduled March 1.

AUNT OF GEORGE V ILL, HAS RELAPSE

LONDON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Physicians of Princess Beatrice, ill with bronchitis, said today that her condition was not so satisfactory as this morning. Their bulletin read: "A slight rise in temperature took place this afternoon, associated with an exacerbation of the bronchitis." An earlier bulletin said that the princess, who is the aunt of King George and the mother of Queen Victoria, of Spain, had gained some strength following a comfortable night. The queen of Spain is at her mother's bedside.

5-DAY SPECIAL
Set of Teeth $5
All Other Work Reduced Half
Gate City Dental Rooms
13 Years in the Same Location
831 Whithall Corner Whithall and Hunter

Delicious Meals from Fresh Pure FOOD

If you start right by getting the right foodstuffs then it's a big assurance that the meal will be a success. At Rogers you'll find nothing but the highest quality Food.

SPECIAL SPRING BROOK CREAMERY BUTTER Lb. 31c Fine Quality! Low Price!

FULL PACK RED RIPE TOMATOES 3 NO. 2 CANS 25c

For Stews—Gibbs' OYSTERO CAN 15c

Nut Margarine NUCOA LB. 23c

AMERICAN SWEET MIXED
Pickles 25-OZ. JAR 25c
OUR FAVORITE
Peas 2 NO. 2 CANS 25c
BORDO-DANDI
Dates 41-OZ. PKG. 5c
CALIFORNIA LAYER
Figs 8-OZ. PKG. 6c

IN OUR MARKETS
Fresh
Pork Chops LB. 17½c
Pure Pork
Sausage LB. 23c
(With Pork)
Meat Loaf LB. 20c Banquet Sliced
Bacon LB. 29c

PONCY
Bread 16-OZ. LOAF 7c
PARKER HOUSE
Rolls PACKAGE 8c
ROGERS
Whole Wheat LOAF 10c

VEGETABLES
U. S. No. 1 Irish
Potatoes 5 LBS. 17c
Tender Green
Turnip Salad LB. 6c
White or Yellow
Onions LB. 3c
Canadian
Rutabagas LB. 2½c

DROMEDARY—Tree-Ripened
Grapefruit NO. 2 CAN 19c
FRESH!—Guaranteed
Eggs DOZEN 25c
CAMBRAY—Paper
Napkins PKG. 10c
ARGO—Yellow Cling
Peaches 2 NO. 2 CANS 25c

ROGERS
QUALITY FOOD SHOPS

Ford Abandoning Rubber Experiment on Tapajos

Various Reasons Assigned for Reduction of Force of 3,000 To Scant 200.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Information reaching here from the northern city of Para states that Henry Ford, after investing several million dollars, apparently is giving up his huge rubber experiment on the Tapajos river.

Recently the number of employees has been reduced from more than 3,000 to 200, while some of the Americans working on the project have resigned and others have been assigned to an Australian post. They now are in Para awaiting transportation to their destinations.

The terms of the 6,000,000-acre Ford concession in the state of Para provide for the clearing and planting of 2,500 acres annually. This has been a difficult task with several thousand men and, it is said, will be impossible with the handful remaining on the plantations.

American circles here understand that Mr. Ford believes he had a federal concession when he started the vast enterprise, not realizing that it was merely a state grant backed only by state authorities.

Some trouble occurred last year on the plantation and police were forced to fly from Para to quell it. It was explained that an eviction order was issued on certain residents who were on the land before Mr. Ford took it over for rubber development and they objected when ordered to move. They marched on the headquarters armed with guns, pitchforks and other weapons and did some damage before they were quieted.

Other trouble occurred recently when employees began throwing stones around the mess hall and did other damage before being ordered to move. Para in a plan to investigate the disorder.

This is blamed by some for the apparent abandonment of the project and others hint that communism is connected with it.

Some of the Americans in Para were said to believe that "too much efficiency" of the type usually attributed to Americans in the temperate zones but unheard of in the tropics, has caused the experiment to fail.

They cited the fact that Brazilian laborers were obliged to punch a time clock and also had to stand in line with trays at the mess hall and carry their food to tables. These were given as two examples of North American ideas which will not work in the forests of the Amazon.

If the development is definitely ended it will mean a huge financial loss to the state of Para, for the Ford interests have spent about $200,000 a month for supplies and $70,000 for labor, all of which went into rapid circulation in the state.

Some of the first anniversary of the Subway restaurant at 160 Peachtree street and 125 Carnegie way, George Calis, the proprietor, will open another location today, the Subway cafeteria, at 76 Forsyth street, N. W.

During the year of its operation the Subway restaurant has enjoyed a steadily increasing business, Mr. Calis says, and the same points of service and cuisine have been responsible for the growth of the place will be offered in the new location.

In celebrating the event souvenirs will be given to all those served today, flowers for women and cigars for men.

A COLD needn't spoil your good times

With Vapex you are protected against sniffles and discomfort. No more dulls the edge of fun so quickly as a clogged-up head, a watery nose, and the distress of a cold.

But you can play with zest—work without feeling miserable—if only you use a drop of Vapex on your handkerchief. With a few deep breaths of this delightful inhalant the distress of a cold vanishes. For Vapex clears the head, stops sniffing, and refreshes you. It relieves a cold at the start.

And Vapex helps you sleep at night. The vapor fights your cold while you rest.

Vapex is the inhalant approved by Good Housekeeping. Millions of bottles are sold yearly. It is inexpensive to use. A single application of Vapex costs only 2c. For the $1 bottle contains fifty applications. Ask your druggist for VAP-EX—the original inhalant discovered during the war.

E. FOUGERA & Co., Inc., Distributors of Medicinal Products Since 1849.

TENNESSEE ASSEMBLY TO STUDY FINANCES

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Reconvening tomorrow, the Tennessee legislature plans to arrange for meeting pressing state obligations—the treasury now is bare—and it is to take a six-week recess in order that the probe committee may have a free hand in its investigations of state affairs.

Facing the lawmakers is the problem of financing the various recess committees for 25 days at the rate of $10 a day compensation and $5 a day expenses, plus transportation for each member, and of preventing the shut-down of many schools by making available to the counties the overdue January apportionment of the state equalization fund.

The January apportionment amounts to $1,394,000. Treasurer John F. Nolan has announced that on January 1 charges against special accounts exceeded the cash balance by almost $1,250,000. Consequently, there was no money to finance the various recess committees, the cost of which has been figured at in excess of $100,000.

Advised of the financial situation, the legislature postponed the start of its recess from last Friday until next Tuesday in order to work out the problems. Indications during the week-end adjournment were that the recess could not begin before Wednesday.

A resolution introduced in the house and expected to reach the senate tomorrow would authorize the surplus proceeds from the sale of notes and bonds for toll bridge construction to be transferred to the general fund. A total of $3,000,000 would be available under this plan, it was estimated, sufficient for meeting the school apportionment, the expense of the recess committees and other obligations demanding immediate consideration.

As the enabling act for the resolution has to pass both houses on three separate daily readings, the final reading in the senate, where it has not yet been introduced, would not be possible before Wednesday.

The probe committee had been called to meet at 10 a. m. Tuesday, but this schedule would be interfered with by the legislative sessions. Chairman Walter Faulkner said the date the hearing will be resumed is to be decided by the committee tomorrow.

MAJOR SHEPARD MAY HEAR SENTENCE TODAY

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Major Charles A. Shepard, army medical officer convicted by a federal jury of murdering his wife with poison, today will hear sentence here tomorrow.

The 50-year-old defendant expected his motion for a new trial to postpone passing of sentence until January 10. The jury, in finding the major guilty last December in Kansas City, Kan., specified capital punishment should not be imposed. A life term is the only alternative.

TWO POLISH AVIATORS START AFRICAN FLIGHT

WARSAW, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Captain Skarzynski and Lieutenant Markiewicz took off at 8:30 o'clock a. m. today on a long-distance African flight, that may be hindered by difficulties with the Portuguese government.

The aviators, making the first foreign flight in a Polish-constructed plane, intend to cover the entire African continent, and will make their first stop at Angola, Portuguese West Africa, if possible.

But the stop there appeared doubtful tonight because it was understood the Portuguese government is raising visa difficulties.

MRS. ARMOR TO SPEAK IN DRY RALLY SERIES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, of Atlanta, Ga., will be one of four speakers to conduct a series of dry rallies to be conducted in the east, central and southern states under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League of America. It was announced here today.

With the Georgia W. C. T. U. officials will be associated the Rev. Billy Sunday, Francis Scott McBride, of Washington, superintendent of the league, and Ben Spencer, of Toronto, Canada, known often as "the Wayne B. Wheeler of Canada."

Mrs. Armor will commence her series of rallies at the Ohio state convention of the Anti-Saloon League to be held in Columbus, April 13 and 14.

NOTORIOUS BANDIT FALLS TO RIFLES

Spectacular Career of Argentine Brigand Ended by Firing Squad.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The sharp report of eight army rifles broke the silence of dawn today and removed forever the menace of Argentina's most notorious criminal, Severino Di Giovanni.

More than 100 persons gathered in the patio of the national penitentiary to witness the end of the bandit leader and anarchist, who for 12 years had preyed upon society through a series of bombings and other outrages.

Scarcely had the smoke of the rifles faded away when shouts of "Viva la anarquia!" rose from the nearby prison cells. Among the prisoners in the death cell was Di Giovanni's friend and lieutenant, Paulino Scarfo, who is under sentence to die tomorrow.

Refusing the spiritual consolation of a priest and snarling a blindfold for his eyes, Di Giovanni died apparently without fear. His guards said he joked with them in his last hours.

Di Giovanni, who prospered as a bandit leader while living in comparative safety and comfort on his suburban estate, was arrested Thursday after a pitched battle in the street. One policeman was killed in the fight and a 13-year-old girl was fatally wounded by a stray bullet. Scarfo was arrested the next day in a fight on his headquarters and in the fight that ensued a policeman and two gangsters lost their lives.

Authorities said Scarfo confessed he and Di Giovanni were the organizers of a bombing attempt against the branch of the First National bank of Boston here during the Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations in 1927.

The two were believed to have been involved in a series of railroad station bombings in which several persons were killed, in their gang also participated in political agitation and counterfeiting.

Convicted by a quick court-martial and sentenced to death, Di Giovanni was led from the death cell and taken before the executioners and the group of witnesses and newspapermen. He was refused permission to say farewell to Scarfo and to make a statement.

Coming from the prison the condemned man made slow progress, as his ankles and wrists were heavily shackled. With his crude prison clothes and a stubble of beard on his face, he did not look like the dashing, well-dressed bandit of his better days. His head was thrown back as he walked toward the execution chair in which he was strapped.

He faced the eight rifles with his eyes wide open. As the volley sounded he fell to the left and the sergeant immediately fired the coup de grace.

A heavy guard was maintained in the vicinity of the prison to prevent any anarchist outbreaks.

MRS. ARMOR TO SPEAK IN DRY RALLY SERIES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, of Atlanta, Ga., will be one of four speakers to conduct a series of dry rallies to be conducted in the east, central and southern states under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League of America. It was announced here today.

With the Georgia W. C. T. U. officials will be associated the Rev. Billy Sunday, Francis Scott McBride, of Washington, superintendent of the league, and Ben Spencer, of Toronto, Canada, known often as "the Wayne B. Wheeler of Canada."

Mrs. Armor will commence her series of rallies at the Ohio state convention of the Anti-Saloon League to be held in Columbus, April 13 and 14.

The Billy Sunday meetings will commence in Washington on April 23 and close in Minneapolis on April 25. His itinerary provides for one meeting in Maryland, one in Delaware, 10 in Pennsylvania, five in Ohio, three in Indiana, 11 in Illinois, and two in Minnesota.

The states to be covered by Ben Spencer in the league's educational campaign include Minnesota, West Virginia, Alabama, Florida, Virginia, Pennsylvania and North Dakota.

Dr. McBride will leave Washington at noon on March 4, for a month's tour through the south, in the course of which he will speak in Petersburg, Va.; Columbia and Spartanburg, S. C.; St. Petersburg, Fla.; Biloxi, Jackson, Miss.; Meridian, Miss.; New Orleans, Baton Rouge and Alexandria, La.; Montgomery and Birmingham, Ala.; Atlanta, Ga.; Chattanooga and Knoxville, Tenn.; Asheville, Charlotte and Winston-Salem, N. C.

Tale of Amazing Brutality Told by Kidnaped Woman

Biggest Plant Ever Raided in New York State Found at Elmira.

MRS. MARTHA LEWIS.

A story of woe and almost unbelievable brutality was told at Jonesboro Sunday by Mrs. Martha Lewis, 22-year-old wife of Bernice Lewis, Denver tailor, of a night spent in the hands of two men who had beaten and robbed her husband and who held her captive all night in a frame cabin in the hills of Clayton county.

The Clayton county grand jury has been called by Judge John B. Hutcheson, of the Stone Mountain superior court, to meet two weeks from today, when the Lewis case will be investigated and indictments against Tolbert Gilbert, 35-year-old married man, and Lynn Lee, 17, will be asked, according to Sheriff E. L. Adamson, of Clayton county.

A plan to call the grand jury into extraordinary session today was canceled when Mrs. Lewis and her husband expressed a willingness to remain in jail at Jonesboro and to appear before the grand jurors. "My husband and I were coming to Atlanta in our own car when it was stopped by two men," she said. "We were told to get out of the car and to appear before the grand jurors. My husband and I were coming to Atlanta in our own car when it was stopped by two men," she said. "We were told to get out of the car and to appear before the grand jurors. My husband and I were coming to Atlanta in our own car when it was stopped by two men," she said.

"The two men then jumped on my husband and beat him unmercifully," she said. "I continued to scream, but there was no one to help. Gilbert and Lee had my husband on the ground and one of them beat him while the other went through his pockets and got the $6 he had realized on the car. They then ran him away and started to beat me. I continued to scream, but the louder I screamed the harder they hit me. My face was bleeding and my clothing was disheveled. After a few minutes I was insensible and when I awoke I was in the strange-looking cabin with the two men."

Mrs. Lewis said the men warned her that if she made another outcry she would be killed.

"Just to show me they were not satisfied with the beating they started to beat me again, and brought more vile liquor, which they made me drink. It was a night of horror. The two men drank all night and beat me between drinks. I think another man came in some time before daylight, but I was too badly beaten to remember what he looks like. I'm not even sure there was a third man."

It was not until morning, Mrs. Lewis said, that the men noticed her ring. "As soon as they saw my diamond ring they demanded it," she said. "I ran through the open door of the cabin and into the woods, but they chased me and beat me again, this time taking the ring. I ran all the way up to the highway and got a ride into Atlanta. I thought my husband had gone to the city and I intended to hunt for him there."

Mrs. Lewis learned the next day that her husband had reported the affair to Sheriff Adamson and went back to Jonesboro to assist in searching for the men who had beaten her. The two men were arrested Friday and a short time later a big still, which Sheriff Adamson said he believes they were operating and from which they obtained the liquor given the Lewis couple, was seized.

Sheriff Adamson said he recovered practically all of the $44 taken from the couple, as well as Mrs. Lewis' ring. In jail, Gilbert and Lee have refused to make a statement. Sheriff Adamson said they admitted to him that they had kidnapped the couple, but deny that they kidnaped and beat either Lewis or his wife. To others they will not talk at all.

STATES' RIGHTS PLAN ON DRY LAW OFFERED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—West states will be permitted to manufacture 3.75 per cent beer and dry states would be kept arid under proposals advanced today by Representative Cochran, of Missouri, a democratic anti-prohibitionist.

Measures prepared for introduction tomorrow would amend the Volstead act to permit the manufacture of 3.75 per cent beer and amend the Webb-Kenyon act to give dry states the right to prohibit manufacture and sale of liquor.

"Former Governor Alfred Smith, of New York," Cochran said in a statement, "defended the doctrine of states' rights, asserting that no one wants to make Kansas wet when Kansas desires to be dry, but he said that Kansas had no right to tell other states to be dry."

"My bills are in line with Governor Smith's views, as they will permit Kansas or any other state to remain dry and at the same time permit Missouri, New York or any other state to sell non-intoxicating cereal beverages if the legislature of that state enacted legislation so permitting."

Cochran said the Wickham commission "came to me with a unanimous conclusion and that was that there was no adequate observance nor adequate enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and Volstead law."

He said his proposals might aid both if enacted, adding: "bills would mean that the prohibition question to a large extent would be solved."

$1,000,000 'STILL' SEIZED IN NORTH

Biggest Plant Ever Raided in New York State Found at Elmira.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Feb. 1.—(AP)—A million-dollar alcohol distilling plant, said by agents to have been the biggest and most elaborate taken in New York state since the advent of prohibition, was raided by eight special agents of the department of justice early today.

Eleven men were arrested at the plant on charges of conspiracy and operating an unlicensed brewery. Huge vats, stills, railroad cars and a large quantity of alcohol and alcohol mash were seized by the agents. They valued the plant and equipment at $1,000,000.

About 1 a. m. the agents climbed over a high board fence to enter the brewery. They said the plant was in operation when they burst into the rooms of the workers.

Until late this afternoon the agents investigated the large brick building, confiscated the equipment and took samples of the alcohol and mash. More than 7,000 gallons of alcohol was in storage.

The plant was before prohibition days Briggs' Brewery, famous for its beverages.

FORMER ATLANTAN BURNED TO DEATH

Samuel Johnson, 34 years old, a former resident of Atlanta, and a brother of O. C. Johnson, 1238 Arkwright place, was burned to death early Sunday morning when fire destroyed the home of his parents at Anniston, Ala. Mr. Johnson's parents, who were the only other occupants of the house at the time of the blaze, escaped but too late to warn him of his danger.

Mr. Johnson was a member of the Shrine and a number of other fraternal organizations. He was born in Atlanta but moved to Alabama at an early age.

O. C. Johnson went to Anniston Sunday to attend the funeral which will be at that place.

AIMEE SEMPLE'S SON TELLS OF HER VOYAGE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Holt Semple, son of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, told the congregation at Angelus Temple today his mother and sister, Roberta Semple, were aboard a ship bound for Shanghai.

The evangelist's object, he said, was a visit to the grave of her first husband, Robert Semple, who died while a missionary in China 18 years ago. Mrs. McPherson disappeared January 22 from the temple, where she is pastor.

Study of Case Against Cannon To Begin Tuesday by Church

Methodists Plan Secret Hearings of Grave Charges Made Against Leading Clergyman.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Investigation of charges against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., will begin here Tuesday with the bishop, weakened by illness and forced to use crutches to move from his hospital bed, ready to defend himself from accusations bearing on his personal and political activities.

There was some doubt tonight whether or not the bishop would be given the opportunity to appear in his own defense. The case is so unusual—it is the first such inquiry since discussion over the question of slavery split American Methodists into two groups—that many involved points of ecclesiastical law must be decided as the first duty of the jurors and three bishops who will hear the evidence.

Cannon, controversial figure in church and political affairs, is one of the highest ranking men in the Methodist Episcopal church, and he is the first bishop to be investigated by his church between the quadrennial general conferences since 1844. When Bishop James O. Andrew defended his ownership of a slave.

The church split on that question, dividing into northern and southern groups after a conference of southern delegates at Petersburg, Va., in 1845. At each general conference all accusations against bishops are heard as a regular procedure. Cannon was investigated in this form at Dallas, Texas, last May, and exonerated. The present charges have developed within the denomination since that time and have to do with his personal life as well as his political activities.

They were presented after the bishop's marriage last fall to Mrs. Helen McCullum, of New York. Bishop William N. Ainsworth, of Birmingham, has arranged the details of the investigation. He is expected to reach Washington tomorrow night. The 12 churchmen selected to serve as jurors have not been informed of the identity of the group as a whole and will meet for the first time when they enter the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal church to consider the case.

It was believed that in view of the reported seriousness of the secret charges—Cannon may be unfrocked eventually if they are sustained—the bishop would be permitted to defend himself. This is not done at the general conference inquiries, but it was felt that in fairness to the bishop he should be allowed to answer the accusations in person.

PROCEEDINGS SECRET.

The proceedings will be in secret. Church authorities even are attempting to conceal the exact location of the committee room in which the charges will be heard. The Mount Vernon Place church is a large mar-

GM You, too, can share in General Motors purchasing economies.

Oakland-Pontiac passes on its savings in the form of added value at new low prices.

Making new friends and keeping the old

OAKLAND PONTIAC

TWO FINE CARS

It might happen to you!

HOSPITAL

3. $30,000 payable for loss of life, or $20,000 for loss of sight, or two members, if due to a collision or upset of a private pleasure automobile while traveling therein

PERFECT PROTECTION

The Reliance Policy That Embodies These Ten Features—And More

1. $20,000 Payable for loss of life from accident.
2. $10,000 Payable for loss of sight, two hands, two feet, or one hand and one foot from accident.
3. $30,000 Payable for loss of life, or $20,000 for loss of sight or two members, if due to a collision or upset of a private pleasure automobile while traveling therein.
4. $50 Weekly if disabled by accident. Payable for 52 weeks for occupational disability—208 weeks additional for permanent disability.
5. $75 Weekly indemnity for hospital confinement resulting from accident, for 15 weeks.
6. $50 Medical attendance indemnity for non-disabling injuries.
7. $50 Weekly indemnity for 52 weeks if disabled by sickness.
8. $50 Per month IN ADDITION FOR LIFE after total and permanent disability by accident or sickness has continued for four months. No more premiums to pay and no deductions from the amount of life insurance due your family.
9. $5,000 Cash to you at age 65, or
10. $5,000 Cash or a substantial monthly income in event of natural death.

ISSUED IN LARGER OR SMALLER AMOUNTS

for Every Emergency.

If you, like most men, fear disablement... loss of income...
 "being a burden"... more than death itself, ponder on the fact that your chances of meeting with some disabling accident are eleven times as great as the chance of death from any other cause! Almost 100,000 people will die from accidents in 1931... 2,000,000 others will be disabled for 30 days or longer... and wages of more than two billion dollars will be lost! It might happen to you! That's why PERFECT PRO-TECTION... the Reliance policy that insures income as well as life in every emergency... is the best insurance money can buy. You don't have to die to win! Should accident or illness disable you... permanently or for a single day... PER-FECT PROTECTION substitutes for your income and pays your doctor, hospital and other bills. Also, it builds up an old-age retirement fund... educates your children... pays your mortgage... furnishes cash for things you want to do while you live... and then pays your family a sure, monthly income when you die! Mail the coupon for all the facts... today!

RELIANCE LIFE

PERFECT PROTECTION BANISHES WORRY

RELIANCE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
 Dept. C1, Healey Building, Atlanta, Georgia

Without obligation on my part, please send me your free booklet "It Might Happen to You," giving full details of the Reliance Perfect Protection Policy.

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

OCCUPATION _____ BIRTHDATE _____

TAMPA, FLA.

$26.91 Round Trip

SOUTH FLORIDA FAIR AND GASPARIOLA CARNIVAL

Tickets on Sale Jan. 31-Feb. 14, Inc. Final Limit Feb. 24

CENTRAL OF GEORGIA RAILWAY

CLARK HOWELL
Editor and General Manager
Clark Howell, Jr., Business Manager

Entered at the Postoffice at Atlanta as second-class mail matter.

ESTABLISHED 1895

Telephone WA 1.6555

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
Daily: 1 Yr. $10.00, 6 Mos. $6.00, 3 Mos. $3.00, 1 Mo. $1.00
By Mail Only: 1 Yr. $10.00, 6 Mos. $6.00, 3 Mos. $3.00, 1 Mo. $1.00
By Carrier: 1 Yr. $10.00, 6 Mos. $6.00, 3 Mos. $3.00, 1 Mo. $1.00
Single Copies: 5 Cents

ATLANTA, GA., FEBRUARY 2, 1931

J. B. HOLLIDAY, Constitution Building, 70 E. Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga., is the publisher of this paper.

The Constitution is not responsible for the opinions or positions of its contributors, editors or managers. It is not responsible for the opinions or positions of its contributors, editors or managers. It is not responsible for the opinions or positions of its contributors, editors or managers.

DEHORNING DEMOCRACY.

The forecast by Senator Copeland of a democratic national victory in 1932 is plausible and pepping. There is no doubt that as political cards are now coming out of the pack a very promising hand is falling on the democratic side of the table.

But there are serious qualifications that must be attached to Senator Copeland's prediction. The democratic leaders should have learned by many experiences that they cannot win victories for the American people by the simple and easy process of showing soiled and sore spots on the hide of the republican elephant.

The electors have too often, by large majorities, condoned the conduct, and even the crimes of the republican party rather than risk the national administration to a democratic party without a fixed program of policy and a secure solidarity of principles within itself. That history inheres in existing conditions which the democracy must face. It cannot theorize itself into White House and Capitol because Harding was recreant, Coolidge careless and Hoover treated as a football by rowdy members of his own party.

Just now the hardboiled and hateful truth is that democratic party leaders are not agreed upon a definite party policy and are leading feverish factions at cross-purposes with each other. There can be no reasonable promise of a great party victory ahead for an army in such a state of confusion and indecision. A democratic party led into backing the use of the national funds to feed, clothe and medicine the needy citizens of sovereign states amply able to succor their own suffering constituents is not a true successor of the democracy of Jefferson, Jackson, Tilden and Cleveland. Any form of government communism was anathema to them, but any form of federal paternalism is hailed with "glory be" in the democratic camps at Washington in our day.

Wise and careful democratic thinkers cannot easily visualize a democratic party in 1932 endorsing and championing such heresies and winning a national victory by promising to conduct the federal administration on free food and relief plans. They know, and the people at large know, that every state in which there are drought or unemployment sufferers is amply able in money and industry to supply relief to its people without raiding the national treasury.

When the temporary emergencies and the churned-up demagogic hysteria have subsided within another 12-month, the big majority of the people will soundly condemn present efforts to make such raids as un-American, un-economic and subversive of just government.

Senator Copeland, his colleague, Senator Wagner, and other democratic leaders, should take heed in time of the peril of admitting the Trojan horse labelled "Relief" into the democratic party camp. There is no victory contained in its bowels.

THE PRESS INSTITUTE.

The Georgia Press Institute, in conjunction with the Henry Grady School of Journalism at the University of Georgia, will be in session at Athens, February 19-21. It should be made one of the momentous events of the state's present era.

The feature of the institute will be an address by Claude G. Bowers, editor of the New York Evening World and better known as the author of that illuminating book, "The Tragic Era." In that book for the first time Mr. Bowers ably and documentarily exposed the repulsive partisan and political transaction accompanying the unconstitutional "reconstruction" of the southern states by a lawless republican congress.

What other national historians have been too truculent and prejudiced to do, Mr. Bowers did with a frankness and courage, a veracity and vividness, that have made his book famous in the literature of the times. Many thousands of sincere students of public history have, through it, had their knowledge corrected and their perspective of a parlous American epoch clarified by irrefutable truths.

The Georgia Press Association has performed a valuable service to the journalists, the university students, and all other searchers of public history in the state, by securing Mr. Bowers as the orator in chief of the forthcoming institute at Athens. The occasion should attract to the Classic City a great attendance of wide-awake citizens interested in hearing things wholesome in political philosophy and valuable as pointers toward the safe ways in which to guide future civic action.

TAX REFORM URGENT.

One dollar out of every eight dollars of the annual income of the American people is taken from them to pay the expenses of their various governments. The total runs to $10,000,000,000, which figures out at $81 plus per capita. It is not to be wondered over, then, that there is a general outcry all over the Union against this great toll taken from the earnings of the people.

The greater part of this huge sum of taxes is unquestionably necessary for government administration, but in nearly all cases there are excesses and wastes that can and should be eliminated. Government can and ought to demand from the citizen no more tax money than is necessary for efficient and economic services.

Nearly every legislature of the states is now in session and a survey of their proceedings shows that, as Governor Murray of Oklahoma, puts it: "The paramount issue in the minds of all our citizens is relief from the burden of taxation on the farmer, the home owner, the merchant, and incidentally, therefore, the cost of living."

It is significant to note that special commissions to consider tax problems have almost uniformly reported that the ad valorem property tax reliance has broken down in efficiency, is unjustly assessed and discriminatory to the benefit of those best able to pay taxes in proportion to their wealth and benefits from the state, and that the right and equitable system of excise taxes upon incomes and profit-making transactions should be substituted for property taxes, except, perhaps, for immediate local benefits.

State after state is proposing the replacement of property taxes by income and sales taxes, applying them alternatively and not concurrently. Such taxes are fairly distributive and collectible at short intervals instead of annually, and are paid by the people easily and indirectly, without dread of sheriff's levies and forced sales.

THE TRIAL OF BUTLER.

In looking forward with acute interest to the action of the Smedley Butler court-martial it will be well to hold in mind the one and only purpose of that extraordinary tribunal.

The court is not constituted to try a high officer of the national service on a criminal charge of any degree. It is assembled under the ancient "Articles of War," a code apart from all other jurisdictions, to ascertain if and how far General Butler was guilty of "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman" by certain public comments upon alleged conduct of Benito Mussolini, the prime minister of Italy.

The members of the court are old and experienced officers of the navy and one of the marine corps of which General Butler is a high commanding officer. Those judges are men sure to confine their investigation and finding within the boundaries of the charge laid against the officer and with no concern whatever to any political incidence of the complained of Butler speech at Philadelphia.

In that connection it should be remembered that the King of Italy is the "head of state" in that nation, and not Mussolini. A verbal shot at Mussolini, who assumes the title of "Il Duce," is not a shot at the "head of a friendly state" in any diplomatic interpretation. To hold it so in this Butler-Mussolini episode would be to accept officially all the assumptions of the fascist dictator and it is highly inconceivable that a court-martial of highly trained American officers will make any such assumption. They will most probably do what the case seems prima facie to demand—reprimand Butler for an imprudent speech.

Chicago is still enjoying the funerals of gangsters shot "on the spot."

The more New York state plays are censored the more like undress rehearsals they show up.

Pershing's appeal for the Red Cross ought to open a million purses. "Ask Black Jack—he knows!"

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Rebirth of Flanders.

The late Cardinal Mercier once said scornfully to a Flemish priest of the archdiocese of Malines: "I belong to a race that is born to rule, and you belong to a race that is born to obey!" This historic bit of conversation had no reference to ecclesiastical affairs. The two men were discussing the political position of Flanders in Belgium. The Cardinal, being a Walloon, that is to say of French stock, naturally took the French side in that vexing question, which agitates Belgium as long as it exists.

M. Max, mayor of Brussels, just said the other day in parliament that the Flemish question involved not only the fate of the Belgian government, but the very existence of Belgium. Harsh and cruel as Cardinal Mercier's words may have been, they contain a good deal of truth. The Flemish people are indeed a people that obeys the dictates of the French minority in Belgium. The Flemings have a pronounced inferiority complex. It cannot be denied that, as a people they are distinctly backward. Cardinal Mercier was not far wrong. But how did they get that way?

At one time Flanders certainly was in the vanguard of European civilization. The Dutch, absolutely the same race as the Flemings, speaking the same language, occupy a cultural position in the world at large, second to no other race on earth. Why have the Flemings, by all means their right name, the Southern Dutch, who have they slipped back, or what is holding them back from reaching a cultural level somewhat equal to that of the Northern Dutch, the Hollanders?

The answer is: Belgium. This state which was created a hundred years ago by the Great Powers lumped under one central administration two peoples of entirely different ethnic stock: the Germanic Flemings and the Latin Walloons. The French King Louis Philippe consented to the setting up of a Belgian Kingdom under British pressure, although he and his government and the Walloons in Belgium had all hoped to have the Southern Netherlands joined to France. If they could not have their wish in 1830, they could prepare for the day of fusion. To this end the French element in Belgium backed by France began a systematic campaign to undermine Flemish culture with the object of eradicating it entirely in course of time.

Holland should have upheld Dutch culture in Flanders, but Holland was no match for France, in a military sense. So Holland kept aloof, practically abandoning four million Flemers to their fate. The century of Belgium's existence, which was commemorated last year, was a period of uninterrupted anti-Flemish agitation. The Flemings were discriminated against, treated as an inferior race, exploited, ridiculed, purposely sacrificed in the thousands by Belgian generals during the war, and subjected to futile offensives against the Germans, offenses in which the number of Walloons was very small.

France has given Belgium the example of how to deal with Flemings. French Flanders is Flemish only in name. The Flemish people are kept on speaking their native language. This is what Belgium wanted to bring about in her territory. But it didn't go. A hundred years of oppression have not succeeded in crushing the Flemish spirit. There is awakening. The Flemish youth begins to react against what is multiplying. Belgium has just increased her police by ten thousand men, equipped with machine guns and machine rifles, and what it will mean when Flanders awakes.

The Life Artistic.

Louise Silvine, celebrated French actress, followed her husband, the star-performer of the Comedie Francaise, within a few days to his grave. People said of the Silvines that they were a model couple. "Look," they said, "the family life of an artist is as calm and quiet as that of an ordinary bourgeois. I have seen and read little traits were cited in support of this contention, a thousand little incidents of affection and mutual admiration between the Silvines. Silvine himself used to tell with tenderness in his voice: 'She thinks of everything. Just the other night I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces from my role, started to go down the main stairway of our hotel to go to the dining room, when I was stopped by a cry from Louise. 'Eugene,' she said, 'what's the matter? Why do you interrupt my monologue?' But Eugene, who she said was going to bed, said: 'Without your pants? I examined myself. It was true. What an extraordinary woman! I don't imagine one night we were playing in Limoges. I was so preoccupied with my role that I was going over it once more while dressing. I was putting on pieces

BOROUGH WILL FIGHT FOR WATER MEASURE

Judge Pomeroy Slated To Sign Order Against Discontinuing Discount Today.

With the slated signing today by Judge E. E. Pomeroy of the injunction restraining the borough from discontinuing allowance of the 25 per cent reduction in city water rates, Atlanta officials were expecting that some action will be taken by the legal department of the borough to contest the legality of the order.

City Attorney James L. Mayson Saturday indicated that such procedure would be the next step in the fight of the borough to abolish the water rate reduction. It was also expected that action will be started by application of the borough for a writ of supersedeas, which Judge Pomeroy probably would sign pending an appeal taken to the Georgia court of appeals.

If such a writ were obtained by the city, it was pointed out, citizens would be required to continue payment of the full amounts of their water bills, under written protest. In the event the highest courts uphold the injunction, however, the city would be faced with the necessity of refunding all differences between the gross and the reduction, or net, water costs to consumers.

SCHOOL SALARY CUT FACING COMMISSION

Sharp reduction in the salaries of school administration officials looms today when the special commission appointed by Mayor James L. Key meets at 10 o'clock this morning to study proposals of changing the method of operation and maintenance of the city's public schools this year.

After a meeting Saturday, the members of the commission adopted a tentative proposal for a reduction of $10,000 from the office of Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs; another $10,000 from various other departments, and $35,000 from the maintenance department, which also is under Mr. Ritchie's supervision.

It was pointed out by members that the proposed slashes are "gestures of good faith" on the part of school officials in order to keep expenditures this year within the appropriation.

INDEPENDENT PICTURE EXHIBITORS TO MEET

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—A national convention of independent motion picture exhibitors has been called by the Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors to meet in Chicago February 10 and 11 to consider booking problems and other conditions within the industry.

The association said the convention had been called because of "apprehension" among independent exhibitors over block booking and "the new practice of motion picture distributors and producers of tying in short subjects and feature productions, so that one cannot be purchased without the other."

Discussing block booking, Abram F. Myers, president of the association, said one company is now distributing a film which practically every independent theater would like to play but they cannot get it without taking 71 others which they cannot afford.

SIN BESETS WORLD. MONCRIEF ASSERTS

"This old world we are living in has got a bad case of sin, and she is going to die if the Great Physician doesn't heal her," asserted Rev. Adiel Jarrett Moncrief, Jr., from his pulpit at Oakland City Baptist church Sunday morning. Preaching a sermon which savored of Old Testament prophecies, the minister said:

"Sin cannot be legislated out of society. The case of prohibition and its eleven years of struggle with the liquor evil demonstrates that there is no magic power in a statute. The conscience of a nation must be aroused to a sense of the sin and shame of such evils before they can be destroyed. This is the responsibility of the living church of the Lord Jesus Christ. Let the church stop its own foolish experiments with hopeless toys and whimsicalities and declare to a rising generation issues of sin."

GRADY STOREROOM IS SCENE OF BLAZE

A small blaze, which fire department officials attributed to the careless disposal of a cigar or cigar, was discovered at noon Sunday in a basement storeroom of the negro unit of Grady hospital, according to hospital reports. Smoke invading the colored nurses' dining room was investigated by an orderly who discovered the fire in the basement directly below. No patients were in that part of the building, it was said, and the fire was quickly extinguished.

M'ELVEEN SPEAKS ON 'DIAMOND RULE'

"The Eleventh Commandment" was Dr. W. T. McElveen's sermon topic at the Sunday morning service of the United Congregational church. "The eleventh commandment," he said, "was the mandate of Jesus recorded in John's Gospel xxi, 24: 'A new commandment give I unto you that you love one another as I have loved you.'"

The Congregational minister insisted that this command was as definite as any in the decalogue. "It is higher in tone than the Golden Rule," he said. "The Golden Rule bids us to do unto others as we desire others to do unto us. It is a rule of justice. It is a rule of tit-for-tat. This eleventh commandment is a diamond rule. It measures our conduct toward one another by the sacrificial service of Christ. It declares that no one has a right to live in needless luxury while any other human being barely exists."

Club Member's Pants Knotted by Six Bandits

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The little tikes who used to climb out of the old swimmin' hole to find their clothes all tied in tight knots had nothing on the gents in the clubhouse of the Savoy Society, Inc., today.

Six bandits walked in on the club members and at the points of a machine gun and shotguns collected about $1,000. This done, the robbers required the victims to take off their trousers and toss them into a corner. Two men were assigned to tie the pants into lots of knots.

Celebrating the First Anniversary of the SUBWAY RESTAURANT

160 Peachtree St., and 125 Carnegie Way

and Announcing the Opening of the new SUBWAY CAFETERIA

76 Forsyth Street, N. W.

Upon the first anniversary of the Subway Restaurant, George Caltis, owner and proprietor, who has guided the establishment to its present position of popularity in this community, takes this opportunity to thank the public for its generous patronage during the past year.

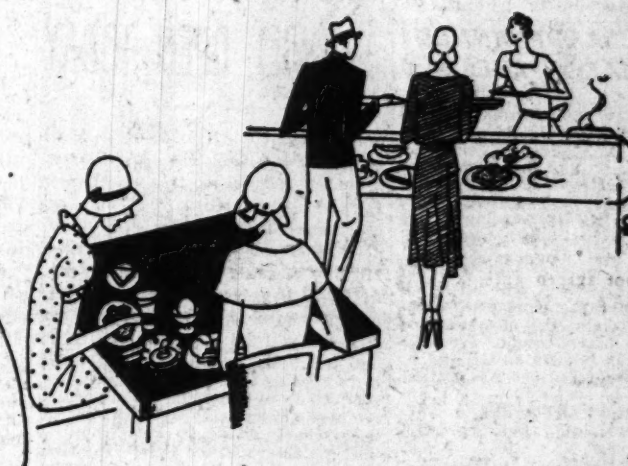

The Subway Restaurant has enjoyed a steadily increasing clientele, keeping pace with public demand by applying every new and known facility for comfort, convenience and satisfaction of customers.

The Subway Restaurant is grateful for this expression of public approval and in return is presenting the new Subway Cafeteria, located at 76 Forsyth street, N. W.

The Subway Cafeteria is new throughout with luxurious equipment and beautiful decorations.

Its operation in connection with the Subway Restaurant, affords the same exacting points of service and splendid cuisine that has won the favor of everyone who has ever visited the Subway Restaurant.

Treat yourself TODAY to the finest restaurant and cafeteria service in the south—presented by George Caltis and his associate chefs. Service to the individual is given in the same careful manner as special orders for banquet room parties, club and business meetings.

Mr. George Caltis
Proprietor

DELICIOUS FOODS-POPULAR PRICES

Souvenirs for Everybody--Flowers for the Ladies King Edward Cigars for the Men

Our Subway
Special Steak sizzling hot served in both places.

We, Whose Names Appear Below, Congratulate George Caltis, the Subway Restaurant and the Subway Cafeteria:

CORLEY & POWELL

PRODUCE CO.

We know by continuing to use the best quality foods, you will succeed.

McCULLOUGH BROS.

WHOLESALE COMMISSION
MERCHANTS

9 Produce Row

WA. 1240

FOREMOST DAIRY

PRODUCTS, INC.

127 Ellis, N. E.

WA. 6508

FLEXLUME SIGNS

Electric displays for sale by
GEORGIA POWER CO., WA. 6121
FLEXLUME SOUTHERN, Inc.
118 Houston, N. E. WA. 6377

VIRGIL COFFEE CO.

145 Auburn Ave., N. E.
WAL. 2280

POST OFFICE

DELICATESSEN
40 FORSYTH, N. W.
WAL. 8045

I. S. MOSS

INSURANCE
Peters Bldg. WA. 5662

FULTON BAKERY, Inc.

191 Edgewood Ave., N. E.
JACKSON 3880

PARADIES & RICH

WHOLESALE GROCERS
66 Mangum, N. W. MA. 1478

MARINOS LINEN SUPPLY CO.

HOTEL & RESTAURANT
SUPPLY CO., Inc.
382 W. P'tree, N. W. JA. 0761

H. L. SINGER CO.

WHOLESALE GROCERS
21 Haynes, N. W. MA. 2600

DRY LAW TO STAY, SAYS MRS. ARMOR

"Liquor Will Be as Dead as Slavery," Says W. C. T. U. Speaker.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Feb. 1.—Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, national lecturer of the W. C. T. U., spoke at the First Methodist church here Sunday morning.

The Rev. M. M. Marshall introduced the speaker, who was accompanied to the pulpit by the president of the local union, Mrs. F. E. Strickland.

Mrs. Armor said in part:

"I am in the fight for prohibition for the love and glory of it. It is the underworld that wants liquor and it is a challenge to our intelligence to say that the eighteenth amendment will be repealed. The impudence of such a statement is a challenge to the church of God. One day liquor will be as dead as slavery. You don't want slavery dead, do you? Then you don't want whisky selling re-stained in your country. When a man buys shoes he has shoes and the merchant has money but when a man buys liquor, he drinks it all and hasn't anything."

"The only way to lose this fight," Mrs. Armor concluded, "is to leave God."

NEGRO SHOTS WIFE AND BURNS HOME

WADLEY, Ga., Feb. 1.—(AP)—County officers state Sunday that they are hunting George Hill, negro tenant farmer on the S. C. Evans place near here, whom they accuse of shooting his wife, Mary, and burning their home Saturday.

The officers said they had learned Hill wanted to move and his wife objected. An argument followed, during which Hill is said to have fired two loads of a shotgun at her as she ran out of the house. One load took effect in the woman's legs.

She was brought to a Wadley doctor for treatment. Officers said that warrants will be issued charging him with arson and assault with intent to murder.

M'DONOUGH REPORTS SMALL INDEBTEDNESS

MCDONOUGH, Ga., Feb. 1.—(AP)—The financial statement of the city of McDonough for 1930 shows a small bonded indebtedness, a small current debt and expenditures for improvements during the past 12 months. The chief benefit received by the citizens has been the installation of water mains on two outlying streets and additional firetrucks. The bonded indebtedness was $15,000 and the current debt $886.77. The total disbursements were $14,903.77. Receipts were $14,803.75.

P-T. A. CLASS PLANNED IN MACON TUESDAY

MACON, Ga., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Charles E. Roe, field secretary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, will conduct a class in district, county and local work of the parent-teacher organization for the sixth district of the Parent-Teacher Association at the Woman's Club here Tuesday, it was announced Sunday.

The all-day meeting will begin at 10 o'clock. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock at the clubhouse. Mrs. Roe will explain the purpose and work of the parent-teacher organization. She was brought to Georgia by the state Parent-Teacher Association.

Arrived and Sailed.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Arrived: None.

Sailed: Silver Palm, Br., far east.

WHEN TO TIE

to eat a teaspoonful of Dr. Cassell's Kidney Pills.

Delicious in mince pie.

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

DR. CASSELL'S

Awarded Carnegie Hero Medals

Two Persons Killed in Auto Crash

Atlanta Hurl in Accident on Dixie Highway Near Forsyth.

FORSYTH, Ga., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Two negroes were killed and two Atlanta men were injured in an auto accident on the Dixie highway five miles north of here early Sunday morning.

Two boys, whose names were not obtained by county officers, stopped a truck owned and driven by J. R. Adams, of Fayetteville, Ga., and appealed for gas. He agreed to give them a sufficient supply to proceed, county officers reported.

As the gas was being transferred the headlights of a car, southbound, appeared. The boys reported that they attempted to stop the car, but were unsuccessful. There was a crash.

Joe Price, negro, Ralph Jordan, negro, The injured: A. M. Brown, Atlanta, seriously injured.

R. F. Jordan, Jr., Atlanta, slightly hurt.

The wreckage caught fire and the car and truck were destroyed. The victims were pulled from the wreckage before flames reached them, however.

R. F. Jordan, Jr., was the owner of the automobile, and Brown was driving. Officers said they said they did not see the truck and the car parked on the highway.

Jordan and Brown were carried to Barnesville for medical treatment and bodies of the two negroes were brought here.

The accident brought the automobile wreckage death list here to three for the week-end.

Anna Rutland, negro child, was killed late Saturday afternoon when she was hit by a hit-and-run automobile.

In another accident Henry Wilson and James Tolbert, of near Forsyth, were injured when an automobile in which they were riding overturned on the Indian Springs road early Sunday morning.

INJURED BROUGHT HERE BY FATHER OF JORDAN

R. Frank Jordan, Sr., of the Jordan-Jacobs Furniture Company, was one of those injured in the crash, went to Barnesville Sunday afternoon and returned to Atlanta with the two injured men.

Jordan, who also is connected with the furniture company, sustained a broken nose and severe cuts and bruises about the face and head. He lives at 1215 Mansfield avenue.

Arthur Brown, who lives at 510 1/2 Tenth street, N. E., and who is an employee of the Oil Company, escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

CRASH VICTIMS IMPROVED IN HOSPITAL AT MACON

MACON, Ga., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Two victims of a Saturday wreck in which a Buick sedan was involved were reported slightly improved Sunday night, and two others hurt in the crash were allowed to leave their beds.

Mrs. L. A. Brown, widow of the minister, was injured more seriously than any other. She was taken to the hospital Sunday afternoon and reported her condition as "fairly good."

While hospitalized, she reported her condition as "fairly good." She was taken to the hospital Sunday afternoon and reported her condition as "fairly good."

Mrs. T. D. Wooten, also of Lumber City, was "resting comfortably." She had a fractured left knee and ankle and possible internal injuries. She and Mrs. Brown are confined to the Middle Georgia sanitarium. Sara Wooten, wife of the minister, was injured less seriously.

Wooten, who suffered minor injuries, was allowed to leave her bed at the sanitarium while Miss Nell McGee, of the same city, was taken to the home of her sister, Mrs. A. C. Raby, here.

Five persons were riding in an automobile when it was overturned Sunday night at Bubbling Springs, on the Dublin road, late Saturday afternoon.

The car was overturned on its side, and the driver, Leroy A. Brown, Jr., son of the late minister, who lives in California, his address was given in care of Winer M. Jones, 5121 Grand place, Los Angeles. Messages dispatched there were not answered.

Identified As Bandits

MACON, Ga., Feb. 1.—(AP)—A man and a boy who were arrested before the coroner's inquest Sunday night at the scene of the crash were identified Sunday night as the bandits John J. Beck and W. C. Bowden after a long chase in automobiles.

The men were arrested Sunday night at the scene of the crash. They were identified Sunday night as the bandits John J. Beck and W. C. Bowden after a long chase in automobiles.

Beck, who was driving the car, was arrested Sunday night at the scene of the crash. He was identified Sunday night as the bandit John J. Beck after a long chase in automobiles.

Bowden, who was riding in the car, was arrested Sunday night at the scene of the crash. He was identified Sunday night as the bandit W. C. Bowden after a long chase in automobiles.

The Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, the Georgia Parent-Teacher Association, home demonstration agents, the Georgia state board of health, wives of the masters, and representatives of various commercial houses were represented.

The topics discussed at the sessions included organization for efficiency, nutrition, parent education, home improvement, 4-H club girl activities, clothing and marketing.

Among the speakers on the week's program were Dr. Mondel Sherman, director, Washington child research center, Washington, D. C.; Dr. G. H. Wheeler, United States public health service; Dr. T. H. McHaffey, head of the horticultural division of the agricultural college, and Miss Elsie Campbell, state supervisor of vocational home economics.

The Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs was represented by Mrs. M. E. Judd, of Dalton, vice president of the organization, and Mrs. J. Vaughn, of Cartersville, state chairman of home demonstration work.

The loving cup donated by the state Kiwanis Club of Georgia for achievement in the nutrition program promoted by the extension division of the State College of Agriculture was awarded to Gwinnett county.

The extension division of the Georgia State College of Agriculture is emphasizing the importance of a "five home" program for farm families and the Georgia Kiwanis Club co-operated by offering a loving cup to the county in the state market.

The banquet was sponsored by the Sons of Italy, the Italian society and others in behalf of the first man to receive the distinction of the Cross of Cavaliere in Savannah.

The banquet was sponsored by the Sons of Italy, the Italian society and others in behalf of the first man to receive the distinction of the Cross of Cavaliere in Savannah.

The banquet was sponsored by the Sons of Italy, the Italian society and others in behalf of the first man to receive the distinction of the Cross of Cavaliere in Savannah.

The banquet was sponsored by the Sons of Italy, the Italian society and others in behalf of the first man to receive the distinction of the Cross of Cavaliere in Savannah.

Two Persons Killed in Auto Crash

Atlanta Hurl in Accident on Dixie Highway Near Forsyth.

FORSYTH, Ga., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Two negroes were killed and two Atlanta men were injured in an auto accident on the Dixie highway five miles north of here early Sunday morning.

Two boys, whose names were not obtained by county officers, stopped a truck owned and driven by J. R. Adams, of Fayetteville, Ga., and appealed for gas. He agreed to give them a sufficient supply to proceed, county officers reported.

As the gas was being transferred the headlights of a car, southbound, appeared. The boys reported that they attempted to stop the car, but were unsuccessful. There was a crash.

Joe Price, negro, Ralph Jordan, negro, The injured: A. M. Brown, Atlanta, seriously injured.

R. F. Jordan, Jr., Atlanta, slightly hurt.

The wreckage caught fire and the car and truck were destroyed. The victims were pulled from the wreckage before flames reached them, however.

R. F. Jordan, Jr., was the owner of the automobile, and Brown was driving. Officers said they said they did not see the truck and the car parked on the highway.

Jordan and Brown were carried to Barnesville for medical treatment and bodies of the two negroes were brought here.

The accident brought the automobile wreckage death list here to three for the week-end.

Anna Rutland, negro child, was killed late Saturday afternoon when she was hit by a hit-and-run automobile.

In another accident Henry Wilson and James Tolbert, of near Forsyth, were injured when an automobile in which they were riding overturned on the Indian Springs road early Sunday morning.

INJURED BROUGHT HERE BY FATHER OF JORDAN

R. Frank Jordan, Sr., of the Jordan-Jacobs Furniture Company, was one of those injured in the crash, went to Barnesville Sunday afternoon and returned to Atlanta with the two injured men.

Jordan, who also is connected with the furniture company, sustained a broken nose and severe cuts and bruises about the face and head. He lives at 1215 Mansfield avenue.

Arthur Brown, who lives at 510 1/2 Tenth street, N. E., and who is an employee of the Oil Company, escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

CRASH VICTIMS IMPROVED IN HOSPITAL AT MACON

MACON, Ga., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Two victims of a Saturday wreck in which a Buick sedan was involved were reported slightly improved Sunday night, and two others hurt in the crash were allowed to leave their beds.

Mrs. L. A. Brown, widow of the minister, was injured more seriously than any other. She was taken to the hospital Sunday afternoon and reported her condition as "fairly good."

While hospitalized, she reported her condition as "fairly good." She was taken to the hospital Sunday afternoon and reported her condition as "fairly good."

Mrs. T. D. Wooten, also of Lumber City, was "resting comfortably." She had a fractured left knee and ankle and possible internal injuries. She and Mrs. Brown are confined to the Middle Georgia sanitarium. Sara Wooten, wife of the minister, was injured less seriously.

Wooten, who suffered minor injuries, was allowed to leave her bed at the sanitarium while Miss Nell McGee, of the same city, was taken to the home of her sister, Mrs. A. C. Raby, here.

Five persons were riding in an automobile when it was overturned Sunday night at Bubbling Springs, on the Dublin road, late Saturday afternoon.

The car was overturned on its side, and the driver, Leroy A. Brown, Jr., son of the late minister, who lives in California, his address was given in care of Winer M. Jones, 5121 Grand place, Los Angeles. Messages dispatched there were not answered.

Identified As Bandits

MACON, Ga., Feb. 1.—(AP)—A man and a boy who were arrested before the coroner's inquest Sunday night at the scene of the crash were identified Sunday night as the bandits John J. Beck and W. C. Bowden after a long chase in automobiles.

The men were arrested Sunday night at the scene of the crash. They were identified Sunday night as the bandits John J. Beck and W. C. Bowden after a long chase in automobiles.

Beck, who was driving the car, was arrested Sunday night at the scene of the crash. He was identified Sunday night as the bandit John J. Beck after a long chase in automobiles.

Bowden, who was riding in the car, was arrested Sunday night at the scene of the crash. He was identified Sunday night as the bandit W. C. Bowden after a long chase in automobiles.

The Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, the Georgia Parent-Teacher Association, home demonstration agents, the Georgia state board of health, wives of the masters, and representatives of various commercial houses were represented.

The topics discussed at the sessions included organization for efficiency, nutrition, parent education, home improvement, 4-H club girl activities, clothing and marketing.

Among the speakers on the week's program were Dr. Mondel Sherman, director, Washington child research center, Washington, D. C.; Dr. G. H. Wheeler, United States public health service; Dr. T. H. McHaffey, head of the horticultural division of the agricultural college, and Miss Elsie Campbell, state supervisor of vocational home economics.

The Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs was represented by Mrs. M. E. Judd, of Dalton, vice president of the organization, and Mrs. J. Vaughn, of Cartersville, state chairman of home demonstration work.

The loving cup donated by the state Kiwanis Club of Georgia for achievement in the nutrition program promoted by the extension division of the State College of Agriculture was awarded to Gwinnett county.

The extension division of the Georgia State College of Agriculture is emphasizing the importance of a "five home" program for farm families and the Georgia Kiwanis Club co-operated by offering a loving cup to the county in the state market.

The banquet was sponsored by the Sons of Italy, the Italian society and others in behalf of the first man to receive the distinction of the Cross of Cavaliere in Savannah.

The banquet was sponsored by the Sons of Italy, the Italian society and others in behalf of the first man to receive the distinction of the Cross of Cavaliere in Savannah.

The banquet was sponsored by the Sons of Italy, the Italian society and others in behalf of the first man to receive the distinction of the Cross of Cavaliere in Savannah.

The banquet was sponsored by the Sons of Italy, the Italian society and others in behalf of the first man to receive the distinction of the Cross of Cavaliere in Savannah.

The banquet was sponsored by the Sons of Italy, the Italian society and others in behalf of the first man to receive the distinction of the Cross of Cavaliere in Savannah.

Getting Material for the Night's Repose

Yankee Soldiers Getting Straw for Their Billees.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

YANKEE SOLDIERS GETTING STRAW FOR THEIR BILLEES.

3 Buildings Razed By Fire in Cochran

COCHRAN, Ga., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed three business houses here at an early hour Sunday morning and for a time threatened an entire block of stores in the center of the city. The places destroyed were:

Prince theater, moving picture house; D. A. Brown tailor shop and living's barber shop. The buildings were the property of Mrs. Carrie Pace Becker, of Athens, who formerly lived in Cochran. The fire is thought to have originated in the rear of the theater.

given arms and fought with the British.

Becomes Super-Parliament.

The second conference of the supreme war council was held at Versailles December 1, the first having been held at Rapallo when the council was established. Our representatives, political and military, especially the military, were present, especially the military, were present, especially the military, were present.

The premier enjoined the military representatives to bear in mind that their function is to advise the supreme war council as a whole and not merely as representatives of their respective nations on the council, and that they should view the problems confronting them not from a national standpoint but from that of the Allies as a whole.

The military representatives at this conference were instructed to examine the military situation and report their recommendations as to the future plan of operations; to study the immediate situation in Italy from the offensive as well as from the defensive point of view, and to report on the utilization of the Belgian army.

It was evident that the council was to become a kind of super-parliament not only for the discussion of resources, aims and purposes, but for the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts. The spirit in which the problems were approached at this meeting made it clear that the supreme war council would sensibly promote co-operation among the powers.

The second meeting of the inter-allied conference, December 3 closed its sessions. None of the questions brought before the first session could be settled before the council was to meet on December 5.

It is of the utmost importance to the Allied cause that the move be made to move the council to France as soon as possible. The minimum number of troops that we should plan to have in France by the end of June is four army corps, or 24 divisions, in addition to the troops for service of the rear. Have impressed the present emergency situation.

General Robertson, Foch and Blunt agree with me that this is the minimum that should be aimed at. This figure is given as the lowest we should think of, and is no higher because the limit of the shipping tonnage for commercial purposes must be curtailed as much as possible. The allies are very weak and we must come to the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts.

General Robertson, Foch and Blunt agree with me that this is the minimum that should be aimed at. This figure is given as the lowest we should think of, and is no higher because the limit of the shipping tonnage for commercial purposes must be curtailed as much as possible. The allies are very weak and we must come to the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts.

General Robertson, Foch and Blunt agree with me that this is the minimum that should be aimed at. This figure is given as the lowest we should think of, and is no higher because the limit of the shipping tonnage for commercial purposes must be curtailed as much as possible. The allies are very weak and we must come to the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts.

General Robertson, Foch and Blunt agree with me that this is the minimum that should be aimed at. This figure is given as the lowest we should think of, and is no higher because the limit of the shipping tonnage for commercial purposes must be curtailed as much as possible. The allies are very weak and we must come to the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts.

General Robertson, Foch and Blunt agree with me that this is the minimum that should be aimed at. This figure is given as the lowest we should think of, and is no higher because the limit of the shipping tonnage for commercial purposes must be curtailed as much as possible. The allies are very weak and we must come to the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts.

General Robertson, Foch and Blunt agree with me that this is the minimum that should be aimed at. This figure is given as the lowest we should think of, and is no higher because the limit of the shipping tonnage for commercial purposes must be curtailed as much as possible. The allies are very weak and we must come to the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts.

General Robertson, Foch and Blunt agree with me that this is the minimum that should be aimed at. This figure is given as the lowest we should think of, and is no higher because the limit of the shipping tonnage for commercial purposes must be curtailed as much as possible. The allies are very weak and we must come to the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts.

General Robertson, Foch and Blunt agree with me that this is the minimum that should be aimed at. This figure is given as the lowest we should think of, and is no higher because the limit of the shipping tonnage for commercial purposes must be curtailed as much as possible. The allies are very weak and we must come to the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts.

General Robertson, Foch and Blunt agree with me that this is the minimum that should be aimed at. This figure is given as the lowest we should think of, and is no higher because the limit of the shipping tonnage for commercial purposes must be curtailed as much as possible. The allies are very weak and we must come to the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts.

General Robertson, Foch and Blunt agree with me that this is the minimum that should be aimed at. This figure is given as the lowest we should think of, and is no higher because the limit of the shipping tonnage for commercial purposes must be curtailed as much as possible. The allies are very weak and we must come to the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts.

General Robertson, Foch and Blunt agree with me that this is the minimum that should be aimed at. This figure is given as the lowest we should think of, and is no higher because the limit of the shipping tonnage for commercial purposes must be curtailed as much as possible. The allies are very weak and we must come to the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts.

General Robertson, Foch and Blunt agree with me that this is the minimum that should be aimed at. This figure is given as the lowest we should think of, and is no higher because the limit of the shipping tonnage for commercial purposes must be curtailed as much as possible. The allies are very weak and we must come to the determination of policy for the concerted action in support of the military efforts.

The Other Bullet

By Nancy Barr Mavity

INSTALLMENT LXI.

Peter suddenly held out his hand. "I owe you an apology, sheriff," he said with an abashed grin. "I thought I could make a bargain with you."

"Yeah, I knowed you was after something," an almost imperceptible deepening of the wrinkles about his eyes was Simpson's nearest approach to a smile. "If you'd lived in this county as long as I have, you'd have saved your breath. Bill Simpson never had no call to bargain."

"I was wrong," Peter admitted frankly. "All I wanted to ask of you was, that you'd give my paper the break on the story."

"Well, you're the only reporter I see around—and goodness knows, one that's the way the story ought to be played. But there's one thing more that needs clearing up."

"June Cook and Julio got married the other day. Miss Cook got reconciled to the match, and they seem right happy. I've known June all her life, and for a while I was a bit worried about her. They seem to think you had something to do with getting around her man."

"Thanks," Peter's gray eyes turned to the sheriff's with new earnestness. "You'll get the credit for catching Lynn and Schmitzer anyhow, because that's the way the story ought to be played. But there's one thing more that needs clearing up."

"I've got the number of Mortison's safe deposit box in the city. I'm going to hand it over to you. I can't get into that box without you, and you can hold on to it if you want to."

"I'll give you all I've got—I can't very well do anything else. I was going to dicker with you to let Mrs. Everett and me go along with you to find what's in that box—but you haven't left me anything to dicker with."

"No, I ain't dickerin'. You're an almighty smart young man, and you thought one time that I couldn't put you in jail, but I did. Then you climbed down off your high horse and asked me a favor."

The sheriff's voice dropped as if the subject had been exhausted. "And you did it!" Peter exclaimed.

"You mean—"

"Well, since you stirred up this shooting match again, I guess we'll have to go through with it and pick up the pieces. I don't doubt it's resting sort of heavy on Mrs. Everett's mind, and maybe I was a bit hard on her a while back. I wouldn't want to do her any more harm than what's been done already," Simpson's eyes rested curiously on Peter's face.

"It means a lot to her," Peter said. "But what it means isn't going into my story."

Simpson nodded, a gleam of satisfaction glinting briefly in his pale eyes.

"I suppose I've got to get dressed and go down and open the jail and book Mr. Lynn and get his statement," the sheriff mused.

"That's all right with me," Lynn muttered, speaking for the first time. "Jail's no treat to me—but I'm glad to go this time. I never saw any of you before, but I tell you, sheriff, this guy's square!"

"Yeah—except that he cooks up these pieces for the paper pretty much to suit himself," Simpson agreed dully.

"Now that I think of it, my car hasn't been running any too well lately. If you care to go back and get Mrs. Everett, just for company, and want to drive me to the city—well, I guess it wouldn't be polite to make you both wait outside while we went into the bank."

"Look here, you can't do that—it's against the law! There's got to be an inventory taken of everything in that box. You can't destroy any of its contents."

The county treasurer had whirled at the sound of tearing paper. Aline Everett, standing in the corner with her back turned, was methodically dropping torn shreds of letters into the wire basket.

But the county treasurer's way was unaccountably blocked by a tall, thin figure which stood between him and the woman in the corner. The wrinkled lids of the sheriff's eyes were lifted.

His eyes blazed with a cold and steady fire.

"There ain't going to be no letters in this inventory," he said quietly.

"But—"

"I said—there ain't going to be no letters in this inventory."

The words dropped with the tinkle of icicles. Bad men, wild and drunken men, had felt the chill of that high-pitched, nasal drawl in the old days, and had stopped in their tracks before Simpson's hand had so much as strayed toward his gun.

The treasurer felt it now, and paused, bewildered.

Annie's hand darted to her hand bag. In another instant there was a faint click—and her open cigarette lighter with its tiny point of flame—described a shining arc as she dropped it among the shredded papers in the basket.

Smoke rose and curled in the windowless, steel-lined vault. Not until it stung his eyelids did Peter turn from the table where he stood bending over the thin, closely written sheets which had been the only other contents of the box.

"Well, for the love of Mike!" he exclaimed impatiently. Then, discovering the cause of the disturbance which had set the other two men to stamping with heavy boots in the charred remains at the bottom of the basket, he turned to Aline. She was standing, unmoved by the commotion about her, in the center of the small open space.

"I wish you'd fish out my lighter before they tramp on it," she said. There was a catch in her voice, but her uplifted face was triumphant.

"Well, I'll say you're thorough," Peter commented. "And I'll say this much, Don—or David—couldn't resist any woman that crossed his path, but yours were the only letters he saved."

"Oh, that!" Aline's shoulders lifted. "That doesn't matter any more. The only thing that matters is that it's—over."

"I don't know what this is all about but it's most irregular. It's likely to get the whole bunch of you into trouble," the treasurer protested as he extricated his feet from the waste basket.

"There's three of us in this room to swear that there never was nothing in that box except the one paper that's on the table right now. I guess that simplifies your inventory some."

The sheriff's lips barely moved as he spoke, but Peter caught again the deepening of the wrinkles about his eyes. "Ma'am, I did you an injustice a while back, and I don't like to be under an obligation to nobody."

"I don't blame you for not liking me," Aline said with a shaken laugh, but her eyes were steady as the sheriff's own. "I think we just didn't understand each other very well. But—I do thank you."

Simpson took the hand which she extended and held it in his huge bony fingers.

"You've been a very foolish woman," he said severely, looking down at her. "But you've got nerve. I always did admire your nerve."

Peter, once again oblivious, had returned to the table. His soft black pencil flew across the pad of paper which he had extracted from his pocket.

"Just don't start anything else till I get this thing copied, will you?" he growled. His near-sighted eyes bent again over the closely written sheets before him.

"To Whom It May Concern," he read. "If this is ever found I shall have lost my stakes—or won them. I don't know which. I've left it up to fate, or luck, or God."

"I tried to make myself go back and face the music, but I couldn't do it. I know that I never will. But if I'm found out—well, I won't be altogether sorry. There are times, like tonight, when I know myself for what I am. That's why I am writing this—to show that I know."

"I did not mean to kill my brother. That was an accident. I came back home, and learned that he had told mother I was dead. He said I'd already disgraced us all and broken her heart, and that he wouldn't let me see her. He called me a libertine and a bum—and he was right. He was always right except once—and for that once I killed him."

(Continued Tomorrow.)

(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution.)

Today's Cross-Word Puzzle

- ACROSS.
- 1 Geometrical figure.
  - 5 Horse.
  - 10 Killed.
  - 14 Melody.
  - 15 Espionage.
  - 16 Rising and falling of the ocean.
  - 17 Bombast.
  - 18 Less common.
  - 19 Place for baking.
  - 20 Gratified.
  - 22 Snake.
  - 24 Loss vital fluid.
  - 26 Juice of plants.
  - 27 Fur-bearing animal.
  - 30 Lair.
  - 32 Groups of co-workers.
  - 36 Harmonized.
  - 38 Dandy.
  - 40 Delineate.
  - 41 Branch of the Tai race.
  - 42 Long-drawn angry speeches.
  - 45 Beverage.
  - 46 Greedy.
  - 48 School of whales.
  - 49 Carol.
  - 51 Deleets.
  - 53 Espouse.

- DOWN.
- 1 Fish.
  - 2 Verbal.
  - 3 Cardinal number.
  - 4 Excellent.
  - 5 Drunken carousal.
  - 6 Bartered.
  - 7 Organ of hearing.
  - 8 Organ of sight.
  - 9 Ventures.
  - 10 Checked.
  - 11 Reside.
  - 12 Paradise.
  - 13 Departed.
  - 21 Fine icy particles.
  - 23 Robust.
  - 25 Animal.
  - 26 Also.
  - 28 Sarcophagus.
  - 29 Blot.
  - 30 Forgiven.
  - 31 Place.
  - 32 Claw of a bird of prey.
  - 33 Genus of cetaceans.
  - 34 Three-handled armadillo of South America.
  - 35 Large antelope.
  - 36 Writes.
  - 37 Carries.
  - 38 Cavity.

Solution of Saturday's Puzzle.

ACROSS: 1. GEOMETRICAL FIGURE. 5. HORSE. 10. KILLED. 14. MELODY. 15. ESPIONAGE. 16. RISING AND FALLING OF THE OCEAN. 17. BOMBAST. 18. LESS COMMON. 19. PLACE FOR BAKING. 20. GRATIFIED. 22. SNAKE. 24. LOSS VITAL FLUID. 26. JUICE OF PLANTS. 27. FUR-BEARING ANIMAL. 30. LAIR. 32. GROUPS OF CO-WORKERS. 36. HARMONIZED. 38. DANDY. 40. DELINEATE. 41. BRANCH OF THE TAI RACE. 42. LONG-DRAWN ANGRY SPEECHES. 45. BEVERAGE. 46. GREEDY. 48. SCHOOL OF WHALES. 49. CAROL. 51. DELETES. 53. ESPOUSE.

DOWN: 1. FISH. 2. VERBAL. 3. CARDINAL NUMBER. 4. EXCELLENT. 5. DRUNKEN CAROUSAL. 6. BARTERED. 7. ORGAN OF HEARING. 8. ORGAN OF SIGHT. 9. VENTURES. 10. CHECKED. 11. RESIDE. 12. PARADISE. 13. DEPARTED. 21. FINE ICY PARTICLES. 23. ROBUST. 25. ANIMAL. 26. ALSO. 28. SARCOPHAGUS. 29. BLOT. 30. FORGIVEN. 31. PLACE. 32. CLAW OF A BIRD OF PREY. 33. GENUS OF CETACEANS. 34. THREE-HANDLED ARMADILLO OF SOUTH AMERICA. 35. LARGE ANTELOPE. 36. WRITES. 37. CARRIES. 38. CAVITY.

THE GUMPS—IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

MOON MULLINS—MOON GETS AN EYEFUL

SMITTY—THE AFTERTHOUGHT

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Besieged

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Spilling the Beans

GASOLINE ALLEY—THAT WOULD BRING 'EM TO TIME

METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS IN ATHENS

21st Annual Session Opens This Evening

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 1.—Mrs. J. N. McEachern, Sr., of Atlanta, formally opens the 21st annual session of the Methodist Missionary Society, North Georgia conference, meeting at the First Methodist church, here this evening. At 8 o'clock the children and young people present as the opening number on a most interesting and stupendous program, "The Way of Life," a pageant written especially for this session by Mrs. M. E. Tilly, conference superintendent of children. The pageant is built around the early struggles of a child to live its life according to the two great commandments. Commencing with the announcement of the birth by one of the spinners of life, the three other spinners are, thereafter, kept busy keeping the snarl untangled. The various episodes of the child from its birth to womanhood bring in many groups. Those from other lands are: Latin America, represented by Miss Marie Castellanos, of Havana, Cuba; Europe, by Miss Marie Schmidt, of Austria, and Asia, by Miss Er Tsau Lak, from China. Miss Castellanos will sing Brahms' Lullaby in Spanish.

One hundred of Athens' most talented children will take part. The production is directed by Miss Carolyn Vance, of the department of oratory, State Normal College, and Mrs. Katie Griffith is in charge of the musical numbers. Mrs. Tilly is the author of many pageants depicting child life in every country, but none is more beautiful or appealing than the one which she has dedicated to her own grandson, Eben Tilly, and all the babies of the North Georgia conference.

Many Atlanta women will attend the annual meeting. Officers and district secretaries from Atlanta are Mrs. J. N. McEachern, Sr., who will preside; Mrs. W. A. Albright, Mrs. Wallace Rogers, Mrs. E. W. Brogdon, Mrs. Virlyn Moore, Mrs. M. E. Tilly, Mrs. Frank Wells, Mrs. Alva G. Maxwell, Mrs. J. C. White.

Delegates from the churches of the two Atlanta districts are Collins Memorial, Mrs. B. O. Harkins; Center Street, Mrs. A. J. Sears; Druid Hills, Miss Mary R. Kent; Glenn Memorial, Mrs. Harvey W. Cox; Epworth, Mrs. C. R. Moore; First Church, Mrs. R. K. Rambo; Grace, Miss Yvette Smith; Haygood, Mrs. S. L. Laird; Inman Park, Mrs. E. E. Williams; Peachtree Road, Mrs. W. H. Roane; St. Mark, Mrs. Alton Reed; Wesley Memorial, Miss Mary Baker; Patillo Memorial, Mrs. R. H. Bush; Decatur First Church, Mrs. Clarence Ford; Trinity, Mrs. Charles R. Graham; Calvary, Mrs. Irby Henderson; St. Paul, Mrs. W. L. Ballenger; St. John, Mrs. E. K. Scrabner; Grant Park, Mrs. E. M. Yancey; Kirkwood, Mrs. D. C. Akers; Martha Brown, Mrs. G. H. Guy, Jr.; Park Street, Mrs. Evans Hall; Stewart Avenue, Mrs. W. J. Agnew; Capitol View, Mrs. R. S. Carroll.

Social Items

Among the guests at the Biltmore hotel are Mrs. Harry Abrahamson, of Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Adams, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Alcorn, of Chicago, Ill.; W. T. Anderson, of Macon; Joseph I. Arone, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bacon, of Albany, Ga.; Mrs. Charles T. Ballard, of Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ballard, of Savannah, Ga.; Mrs. A. Birdsey, of Macon; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bockers, of South Bend, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Braham, of Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Cahoon, of Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cochran, of Irvine, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Dick, of Scottsdale, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Ethridge, of Macon; Mrs. Blanche Frazier, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Hunt, of Greenville, S. C.; Mrs. Olive Hurst, of Scottsdale, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jeffers, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Lawson, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Livingston, of Bloomington, Ill.; Mrs. T. H. Melrose, of Accomac, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Mosley, of Danielsville, Ga.; Miss Susan Myrick, of Macon; Dr. and Mrs. N. O. Ramstad, of Birmingham, S. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rushton, of Birmingham; Mrs. L. D. Skemp, of Scottsdale, Pa.; and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Woolman, of Newark, New Jersey.

Mrs. Rose Mae Ashby, past worthy grand marshal of the general grand chapter, O. E. S., left Saturday for New York, where she will stay a few days before sailing on the S. S. Rotterdam for a cruise on the Mediterranean, a tour of Palestine, Egypt, Asia Minor and northern and southern Europe. In New York Mrs. Ashby will be guest at a luncheon at the N. Y. A. Club, a theater party, and a dinner in Greenwich Village. Mrs. Ashby will return to Atlanta early in the summer.

Mrs. Emmett W. Brogdon will spend this week in Athens, where she will attend the annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the North Georgia conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Miss Frances Pittman will be the guest of relatives in Lanett and Langdale, Ala., this week.

Mrs. R. N. Fickett, who has been visiting relatives in Forsyth, has returned.

Mrs. E. P. Paden is spending a few days with relatives in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Bartlett and Dr. and Mrs. Spencer Kirkland spent the week-end in Cedartown as the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Fielder.

Mrs. William N. Ainsworth, wife of Bishop Ainsworth, of Birmingham, Ala., is ill at Wesley Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson F. Saville, of Griffin, announce the birth of a son Thursday, January 23, at Wesley Memorial hospital who has been named Carson F. Jr. This little boy is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Bonney and Mrs. Lillian Saville. Mrs. Saville was formerly Miss Caroline Bonney.

Miss Ruth Jackson has recovered from an attack of influenza.

Chairmen and Committees Appointed For Kettledrum by Habersham Regent

The following chairmen of committees have been appointed by Mrs. A. R. Colcord, regent of the Joseph Habersham chapter, B. A. R., for the Kettledrum to be given under the auspices of this organization Tuesday, February 17, at the chapter house on Fifteenth street: Mrs. James N. Brawner, general chairman; Mrs. George Niles and Mrs. Christian Clarke, co-chairmen; Mrs. Will C. King, publicity; Mrs. Julian Jones, tickets and telephone; Mrs. T. J. Ripley and Mrs. Marion T. Benson, co-chairmen; Mrs. C. J. Sheehan, Mrs. Lucien Harris, Mrs. W. S. Coleman, Mrs. B. C. Ward, Mrs. E. A. Cronheim, Mrs. W. S. Aske, Mrs. Frank Golden, Mrs. George Berry, Mrs. A. C. Whitehead, Mrs. F. J. Coolidge, Jr.,

Mrs. Enos Hartman, Mrs. J. B. F. Herreshoff, committee for tickets and telephone; Mrs. Christian Clarke, Mrs. J. N. Harper, Mrs. C. J. Dinkler and Mrs. J. J. Simpson, committee of arrangements; Mrs. Charles Loidans and Mrs. L. C. McKinney, chairmen of candy committee composed of Mrs. H. W. Beers, Mrs. Frances M. Dabney, Mrs. A. F. Link, Mrs. Homer Simpson, Mrs. L. A. Morris, Mrs. A. Self, Mrs. John A. Perdue and Mrs. Hayden C. Jones, Mrs. George Niles and Mrs. F. E. Brownell, chairmen of finance; Mrs. J. B. Barron, Mrs. E. B. McDougal and Byron Kistner, chairmen of prizes, with the assistance of the following: Mrs. W. F. Dykes, Mrs. C. D. Tebo, Mrs. Earl Yancy, Mrs. C. E. Faust, Mrs. Earl

Rogers Toy, Jr., Is Winner.

Twenty-two children of fifth and sixth grades of Tenth Street school participated in the speaking contest of Lackland School of Expression, and the gold medal was won by Rogers Toy, Jr., and those winning honorable mention were Jeanette Nelson, Kathryn Alexander, Ralph Bridges and Roger Stokely. The judges were Mesdames Max Milligan, C. C. Harris and Edward Smith. During the social little Jane Smith and Annie Laurie Kurtz entertained with clever readings.

Kimball, Mrs. J. A. Greene, Mrs. Lon Duckworth, Mrs. Paul H. Nichols, Mrs. J. E. Miller, Mrs. Vance O. Rankin and Mrs. E. E. Bawel. Those desiring reservations for tables at $2 each can phone Mrs. Julian Jones, Walnut 7225, or Mrs. T. J. Ripley, Hemlock 17153.

Activities of Woman's Club Feature Benefit and Meetings

Mrs. John R. Hornady, past president and chairman of the house committee, will have charge of the first bridge party of the Atlanta Woman's Club for the new year, sponsored by the house committee and held Friday afternoon, February 6, at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. E. K. Voorhees, chairman of prizes, and Mrs. Odie Poundstone and Mrs. Walter Sims, co-chairmen, have many lovely articles to be drawn, including handmade handkerchiefs, painted china, glassware, homemade cakes, toilet articles, towels, flower bowls and many other useful things for the home.

Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, Mrs. W. P. Dunn and Mrs. M. L. Throver will be in charge of receiving the guests. Mrs. Irving Thomas and Mrs. George Obar are chairmen for refreshments. Mrs. Earl F. Scott and Mrs. D. R. Wilder will have charge of table arrangements.

All members of the club and their friends are invited to attend and requested to bring cards, pencils and score pads. Call Hemlock 4637 for reservations. The house committee meets Wednesday morning, February 4, at 10:30 o'clock. The literature department of the Atlanta Woman's Club meets Thursday afternoon, February 5, at 3 o'clock in the palm room of the club with the chairman, Mrs. W. F. Melton, presiding. Short stories and poems written by members of the department will be read by Mrs. Roger Wilson and a committee will select the best story and poem to be read at the meeting of the club Monday, February 9. The short stories submitted for this program must not be over 1,500 words and not, under 1,000. The poems must not be over 20 lines or under 12.

The literature chairmen of the clubs of the fifth district and the city federation will be the guests of the afternoon. All interested in literature in any form are invited to attend both meetings. The executive board meets Friday morning, February 6, at 10:30 o'clock.

Grant Park B. Y. P. U.

The B. Y. P. U. of Grant Park Baptist church will present a musical concert in the church auditorium Thursday evening, February 5, at 8 o'clock. No admission, but a free-will offering will be taken. The public is invited.

Miss Dickenson Hostess

Miss Marcelle Puckett and Jamie Derrell Harper, whose marriage will be an event of this month, were entertained Friday evening by Miss Anne Dickenson at her home on Rock Spring road. Assisting the hostess in entertaining were her mother, Mrs. Louise McDonald Dickenson, and Miss Marion McDonald.

The guests included Misses Marcelle Puckett, Lois Bell, Mary Louise Hunter, Ada Smith, Elvira Myers, Kathryn Holley, Marie Suttles, Wilmer Moore, Marion McDonald, Mrs. and Mrs. R. S. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Graf, Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge Hardman and Mr. and Mrs. Lee McClure. J. Derrell Harper, Gene Williams, Harold Martin, Hoyt Wiggins, W. R. Meadows, Marvin McDonald, Albert Braun and Arthur McDonald.

STERCHI'S SIX CARLOADS BEDROOM SUITES! JUST ARRIVED...

Sterchi's has never been undersold—They have always been in a position to sell as low or lower than any furniture or department store.

An elegant style which has instant appeal because of its simplicity. Picture this bedroom suite in your own room. Three pieces, full size poster bed, chest and vanity. $98.50

So Many Suites From Which to Choose!

THE VARIETY IS GREATEST—AT STERCHI'S

This smart bedroom suite is substantially built—and is not a "miracle piece," but just one of Sterchi's everyday values. Consists of full size bed, chest and vanity in walnut finish or your choice of colorful enamel. $39.50

It Costs Less at Sterchi's!

Even our most reasonably priced suites have construction of the best quality. Note the graceful lines of this beautiful walnut suite. Three pieces, bed, chest and vanity. $98.50

Buy Today!

You can best express your individuality in your bedroom and this suite would certainly do credit to your good taste. Consists of bed, chest and vanity—rich walnut finish. $159.50

New 1931 Styles

THE SAME VALUES AT ALL STERCHI STORES

STERCHI'S
Atlanta Main Store—142-150 Mitchell St., S. W.
Atlanta Branch Stores
249 Marietta St., N. W.
Cor. Main and Thompson, East Point
FREIGHT PREPAID ANYWHERE IN GEORGIA

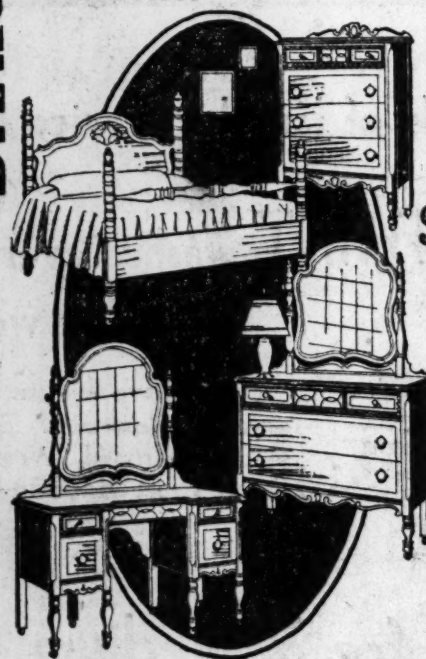

50-Lb. Felt Mattresses

Durable Coil Springs

$19.50

$5.00 allowed for your old spring or mattress in the purchase of either of these.

$69.50
3-PIECE BEDROOM SUITE

This attractive 3-piece Suite in walnut finish offers wonderful possibilities in creating a charming bedroom at low cost. Full size bed, chest and vanity. Easy Terms

3 PIECES Rich Walnut Finish

$119.50

Just married! Then this is a lovely suite for happy surroundings. See this beautiful suite. Buy it for your room!

Divide the Cost by 12 Months to Pay

STERCHI'S

College Park Club.

The College Park Woman's Club meets at the clubhouse Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. After a brief session for the transaction of business, presided over by the president, Mrs. Albert Akers, an interesting program will be given.

Mrs. C. W. Everts, director of the Junior Woman's Club, will present the program. A group of Junior Club members will render a brief musical program. Miss Lucy Marvin Adams, physical director of the Atlanta Y. M. C. A., will be the speaker.

The club has featured the Tullulah Fall school during the year, and an exhibit of articles made by the young ladies for this school will be presented. The Junior Club urges each member to bring a contribution to this meeting additional gifts for this shower. Mrs. Gartrell Webb and a group of young women will serve tea. Mrs. Akers, urges all members of the executive board to meet at the clubhouse promptly at 2 o'clock for a business session.

Brook, Mrs. M. Joyce Henderson, Mrs. W. W. Wingfield, Mrs. Charles H. Battle, Mrs. Thomas A. Moyer, Miss Mary Sparrow, Miss Nell Sparrow, Miss Lucile Wright, Miss Myrleen Merch, Mrs. Joyce Waite, Miss Wilhelene White, Mrs. J. R. Waller, Mrs. George Hood, Mrs. F. R. Yarbrough, Miss Helen Enloe, Mrs. William B. Kee, Mrs. Betty Blount Howard, Miss Mary Brooks, Miss Maude Caldwell, Mrs. Charles M. Davis, Mrs. Carl Hartrompp, Miss Mazie Oaks, Mrs. Ernest Oxford and Miss Julia Fillingim.

Vegetable Compound

E. Missionary conference in Athens next week will be Mrs. G. T. Corrells, Mrs. Milner Adams and Mrs. J. Castellanos.

These tablets are just as effective as the liquid.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Damp Wash does washing only, but does that perfectly. Every piece washed gently in mild suds and hundreds of gallons of fresh water. Every piece sterilized. The bundle comes back slightly damp, ready for ironing. You can get no finer washing service at any price.

12-Pound Bundle:		15-Pound Bundle:
Consisting of:		Consisting of:
3 lbs. flat work and 9 lbs. apparel . . .	$0.75	5 lbs. flat work and 10 lbs. apparel . . .	$0.90
5 lbs. flat work and 7 lbs. apparel . . .	.75	6 lbs. flat work and 9 lbs. apparel . . .	.93
6 lbs. flat work and 6 lbs. apparel . . .	.78	7 lbs. flat work and 8 lbs. apparel . . .	.96
7 lbs. flat work and 5 lbs. apparel . . .	.81	8 lbs. flat work and 7 lbs. apparel . . .	.99
8 lbs. flat work and 4 lbs. apparel . . .	.84	9 lbs. flat work and 6 lbs. apparel . . .	1.02
9 lbs. flat work and 3 lbs. apparel . . .	.87	10 lbs. flat work and 5 lbs. apparel . . .	1.05
		11 lbs. flat work and 4 lbs. apparel . . .	1.08

Rough Dry washes every piece, irons flat work and returns wearing apparel dry and ready to iron. The washing is gentle and thorough as in all family wash services. Flat pieces are ironed immaculately.

Prim-Prest finishes everything exquisitely. All pieces are washed sweet and clean and sterilized. Then they are carefully ironed by expert hand ironers, who give the daintiest possible finish. In Prim-Prest laundering is truly a fine art.

Here's Five-Reel Strip of Leading Figures in Sport News of Day

"A population of 500,000 by 1935" is Atlanta's slogan. Let's all pull together for a Greater Atlanta.

THE CONSTITUTION'S WEEKLY BUSINESS REVIEW

EDITED BY M. D. GLEASON.

There is hardly a need or a want that cannot be filled in Atlanta's stores and factories.

ENVELOPE BUSINESS SEEN AS BAROMETER

"We are accustomed to examine bank clearings, railroad earnings, the investment market, labor conditions and similar factors," declares S. Guthman, widely known Atlanta business man, "and base our conclusions on such barometers. However, I know there is still another barometer of business that few people consider when contemplating what lies ahead. I happen to have been in a position to analyze this 'barometer' for the past 25 years and it very rarely leads one astray.

"I have reference to the manufacture, and consequently the use, of commercial envelopes. It stands to reason that as business picks up, more envelopes are used to mail out statements, for general correspondence and other purposes.

Obviously, Mr. Guthman is well acquainted with developments in the envelope making industry for he is the head of the Atlanta Envelope Company, largest makers of commercial envelopes exclusively in this section of the United States. His opinions on this 'new business barometer,' therefore, warrant attention.

"Within recent weeks," continued Mr. Guthman, "there has been an appreciable pickup in our business. The increased demand for properly made envelopes has caused us to install additional machinery and we are expecting 1931 to be one of our biggest years in every respect. Naturally, the Atlanta Envelope Company is in a position to judge business improvement in many lines because we come into contact with business and industries of every conceivable type. I don't say we haven't a bit more of rocky road ahead, but I am confident that the year, taken as a whole, will be infinitely better than the pessimists would have us believe."

Volcano Erupts.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 1.—(P)—Dispatches to La Prensa from Tonila tonight said peasants in Jalisco state were fleeing from Colima volcano, in eruption for the first time in 18 years.

Moving? call MAIN 2121

Your household goods deserve careful, efficient treatment—the famous "Walker Way." Call us.

Storage, Shipping, Moleproofing Agents: Allied Van Lines, Inc. Walker Storage & Van Co. 521 Peachtree St., N. E. "We Cover the South"

SAVE 33 1/3% FUEL

COAL : OIL : GAS

WHATEVER THE FUEL YOU USE WILL COST LESS WHEN YOU INSTALL NU-METAL WEATHER STRIPS.

Call Calhoun 1483 ATLANTA TENT & AWNING CO. East Point, Ga.

COLD WEATHER NEEDS

Asbestos Cement, Boiler Leak, Flexible Boiler Flange, Gas Hose, Parts for Gas and Coal Heaters, Radiator Air and Steam Valves, Radiator Handles, Radiator Keys, Radiator Covers, Vent Pipe, Pipe Covering, Store Gates and Vac-Caps, Pipe Cut and Threaded.

OUR PRICES ARE CONSISTENTLY LOW PICKERT PLUMBING SUPPLY CO. Wholesale and Retail

197 Central Avenue

WAlnut 8169

FELT MATTRESS RENOVATING

Let us convert your old mattress into a spring-filled mattress. Prices reasonable.

IMPERIAL BEDDING CO.

Phones WAlnut 3611-3612—442 Cain St., N. E.

This large gas tank made without a rivet or bolt

By BIRD-POTTS CO., Inc.

The most complete electric and oxy-acetylene welding plant in the country.

Nothing too large or too small.

376-78

Marietta St.

JA. 4256

S. Pryor St.

at A. & W. F. Ry. MA. 1676

For Good Printing Call WA. 7102

Keep "Atlanta dollars" in Atlanta—Teach them to have more cents. Buy your printing in Atlanta—buy "DOCRO" printing—printing that "speaks."

DOWMAN & CROSBY CO., PRINTERS 177 Luckie St., N. W. Phone WA. 7102

Service a Certainty—Ask Our Customers Jackson 4437

BOHLER & SHACKLEFORD, Inc. COMPLETE AUTOMOBILE SERVICE

21-23 BAKER ST., N. W.

JESSIE M. BOHLER WE CONDITION SHOCK ABSORBERS T. A. (SHACK) SHACKLEFORD

It Is Our Pleasure to Serve You the Best of Well Cooked Foods at Your Convenience We especially invite the ladies and all visitors to Atlanta to get a big hot meal for a small cost, or a tasty sandwich FROM 6 A. M. TO 12 MIDNIGHT We have always been famous for our hot and cold drinks.

THE REX LUNCH ROOM

GRAND THEATRE BUILDING E. L. YORK, PROP.

AUSTIN BROS. BRIDGE CO. STRUCTURAL STEEL FOR ALL PURPOSES

Reinforcing Rods—Bridges

Atlanta, Ga. Telephone Opposite Ft. McPherson WEat 2200

MATTRESS COMPANY CLEANS FEATHER BEDS

The Gate City Mattress Company, of 825 Edgewood Avenue, N. E., has recently installed a feather cleaning and renovating machine. The machine, which consists of several large, screened paddles, encased in a galvanized drum, whirled the feathers around at high velocity to separate them from each other, and hot steam is turned in to wash and sterilize them. Then when they are whirled around again for a few minutes in hot dry air, the feathers curl up at the ends, and this makes them soft and fluffy.

This renovating old feather beds, and making them over, soft clean and comfortable again, will enable many people who like their old feather beds, to enjoy the comforts they formerly received from them, and it will also give others the opportunity to locate old feather mattresses that they may have put away in their attics many years ago, and now get as full a benefit from them as they ever did.

This firm also makes feather beds up in the sectional system—that is, they sew the top and bottom ticking together about every eight inches apart, crosswise of the mattress, making it look and feel as if nine pillows as wide as the mattress were sewed together. The advantage in this is that the feathers do not become crowded from one place in the ticking to another, but must stay confined in their own section or pillow.

The proprietor of this company, Paul Hornbuckle, says that their samples of bed tickings and coverings are the best they have ever shown.

and this means no one opens or sees the contents of this big steel box until the owners themselves open it or directs it to be done.

These big steel boxes are brought to the warehouses, and put on the main floor, facing Peachtree street, and the owners can see or go into them any time during business hours. When the time comes to move them to a new home, in this or any other city, the big steel box is loaded as it is on a big van and delivered to the doors where the owners unlock it, and everything can be found just like the owners saw it last.

In the packing departments where smaller lots are prepared for freight shipment, power saws can be seen which quickly cut the lumber for the crates, and every other modern facility is at hand to prepare goods for prompt shipment.

Every precaution is taken to move all goods without marring or breaking, clean furniture pads being used to protect the goods.

WELDERS CONSTRUCT ENORMOUS GAS TANK

Elsewhere on this page today there appears a picture of a large gas tank that was made by the Bird-Potts Welding Company, of this city, for the Commercial Acetylene Supply Company, of Hamilton Avenue, in the Grand park section.

The interesting feature about this large gas tank is that it was built without a bolt or rivet and the young man in the picture is showing the young woman where the great iron plates are welded together, making an air, water or gas-tight joint.

This tank was designed by the engineering department of the Bird-Potts Company and built at their South Pryor street plant. The upper or bell part contains acetylene gas, which is made from carbide lime, and the bell is the container or storage tank for the manufactured gas, and from this tank is shipped in the small metal containers, acetylene gas for lighting and dozens of other purposes to all parts of the south and west.

As the newly made gas is forced into the bell from the generating plant, it raises the bell up to the top of the iron framework so that at different times of the day the bell is at different heights, the illustration showing it not quite half as high as it raises.

The lower part of the tank is larger by 16 inches all around than the bell tank and this space between the two is filled with water and the well was the tank welded together that not a drop of water has ever leaked from it anywhere and no gas has ever escaped from the gas tank.

The designing and building of this acetylene gas tank is just one of the many kinds of work done by the Bird-Potts Welding Company, who have two plants here in Atlanta, one at 378 Marietta street and their large new plant at South Pryor and the Belt Line railroad.

In the Marietta street shop they do all their automobile and scores of other kinds of small welding jobs, while the South Pryor street plant was especially built and equipped to do all kinds of welding, from small rivets that weigh but a few ounces to those that weigh many tons.

The South Pryor street plant is conceded by mechanical engineers to be one of the most complete welding plants in the country and some wonderful jobs are done there or the workmen go among America's foremost, go elsewhere.

One crew recently welded two broken parts of a big engine in Knoxville that weighed over 3,000 pounds, the owners of the broken engine after explaining the break to many welding companies were advised that the welding of such large pieces of iron could not be done. Bird-Potts, however, had welded bigger things before and their men went up there and did a good job.

Another crew went up in the Carolinas and welded eight miles of half-round aluminum wire to a giant wheel in a textile mill, such that when the job was done the giant wheel could revolve faster, making possible a 10 per cent increase in production.

MORE DEMAND SEEN FOR FARM PRODUCTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(P)—A prospect for a gradual recovery in the domestic demand for farm products the latter half of this year was seen today by the agriculture department.

The annual agricultural outlook report added "some recovery" in foreign demand also seemed likely except for wheat and pork products.

This prospect for improvement, the report said, "is based on the belief that the world-wide economic depression will have run the worst of its course by the summer of 1931 as consumption of many industrial products is now outrunning production. Prospects also will be affected by the volume of agricultural production in 1931."

"ROXY" GIVEN STATUE BY N. Y. WOMEN'S CLUBS

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(P)—A bronze statue of a woman representing what the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs believes he has brought into the lives of millions of people—romance—was presented to S. L. (Roxy) Roaf today.

The award was made at the Sunday morning concert in the Roxy theater by Mrs. Frank J. Shuler, president of the federation. It was presented to Roxy as the person "who has done the most to advance appreciation of music in the city."

COUCH BROS. HARNESS IS POPULAR IN SOUTH

For more than 37 years Couch Brothers, of East Point, near Atlanta, have been making horse collars and backbands and during that time millions of these well-known articles have been bought by the farmers throughout all parts of the country.

The horse collar is known as the "Lankford," and is covered with heavy cotton duck and reinforced with leather where the metal parts of the harness come in contact with the collar. The collar has always been very popular on account of being comfortable to the horse or mule in the summer and at the same time stands the hot sun, heavy rains and rough handling to the satisfaction of those who use it.

The backbands and breast collars, as made by Couch Brothers all these years, are soft and pliable and prevent chafing or chafing of the horse or mule in the heavy plowing, hauling or cultivating in the hottest of weather, and are parts of a horse's harness that are very important to the horse's comfort and at the same time permit them to do a big day's work.

While these collars and backbands are sold everywhere, they are especially suited to the needs of the southern farmer and the cotton farmer has always felt that these collars and backbands are his best friend in making the products he himself is producing and the same cotton farmer is not unmindful that the hundreds of thousands of horse collars and backbands made annually by this firm require thousands of bales of cotton.

Couch Brothers, who are also owners of the Atlanta Tent & Awning Company, are now in the midst of a very busy season in making these cotton horse collars and backbands. The weather during the past two weeks has given the farmers a splendid opportunity to do much plowing, and the result has been that an avalanche of orders has been received during the last few days.

This same good sunshine weather has also started the season for awnings, and a force has been kept busy lately in making up special order work.

The unusually early start of the awning season is gratifying to the officials of this company, who are anticipating that the year 1931 will be a banner year in the awning business, as well as in the making of horse collars and backbands.

Joe Says—

Ask him about the NEW MAJESTICS just out with AMAZING NEW MULTI-MU SCREEN GRID TUBE, WHICH ELIMINATES UNNECESSARY NOISES.

an exclusive feature of MAJESTIC RADIOS

New Models At New Prices $79.50 to $215.00 Completely installed in your home

Just call Joe at Starch's WAlnut 8767

STERCH'S "The South's Largest Home Furnishers"

DRINK MORE NATURAL SWEET MILK

Doctors for ages have been recommending pure wholesome sweet milk as it comes from the cow, as nature's food that is best for babies, invalids and well folks.

Every member of our league guarantees his milk is produced in the cleanest way it is possible and delivered to his customers within a few hours after it is milked.

THE GEORGIA PURE MILK LEAGUE Meets First Thursday Each Month 901 Fulton Court House

C. J. ROSS, President G. C. TUGGLE, Vice President W. S. GRESHAM, Treasurer HARRY L. BROWN, Secretary J. W. MARCH, Watchman

W. J. BROWN, J. W. STAMP, A. S. HANCOCK, L. A. JOHNSON, S. L. PORTER, W. L. WEST, ERNEST GLADEN

High Grade Mattresses, Feather Renovators

GATE CITY MATTRESS COMPANY, 425 EDGEWOOD AVE. WAl 3861

WANTED Old houses—buildings of any kind to wreck. New and used building material for sale.

Atlanta Wrecking Co., 219 WALKER ST., S. W. PHONE MAIN 0000

YANCEY BROS., Inc. Telephone MAin 3964 634 Whitehall St., S. W. "Caterpillar" Tractors—Road Building Machinery Contractors' Equipment

Mundy Hoist Here is a very handy hoist for light work: the Mundy 15 H. P. 2-drum, with Lerol gasoline engine.

RANDALL ANNOUNCES NEW MODEL NO-KOL

"Heating the home, office, factory, public or private institution by automatic oil burners has just become a fact," says W. M. Timmons, manager of the oil division of Randall Brothers Coal Company.

"Twenty years have now passed," he says, "since the first oil and air burners were being tried out, and since that time automatic oil burners have kept step with the march of progress in the many new improvements and service in oil heating."

"Our No-Kol Automatic Oil Burner, after it is lighted on the first cold day in the fall, will burn day and night until the home owner turns it out, one hour or six months later.

The inference, however, must not be considered that there is any considerable amount of oil burned or wasted on such days as it might be warm enough without a fire, for at such times the flames all die down to a little pilot light, about the size of a match flame, and remain so every hour the temperature is below a certain degree the householder fixes as the warmth desired.

The No-Kol has always been a wonderful automatic oil heating burner, due to the faithful, consistent performance it renders year after year; but now with the new model, which we call 'G,' we are presenting to the homeowners of this part of the country the finished result in simplicity of years of experimenting with known engineers in the automatic oil-heating business.

"This new model 'G' solves many difficult problems heretofore existing due to the many kinds of heating plants in the various homes and other buildings. This new and improved model has no parts within the fire box, the flame can be adjusted to meet the requirements of any combustion chamber. This will give a very efficient heat application when needed, and ample space for expanding products of combustion.

"One of the first things the makers of the No-Kol burners have done is to give the full benefit of this new improved No-Kol to all former owners of previous models, and they are making a very attractive trade-in proposition on their old models. The owners of the new burners quickly see a big reduction in their fuel bills after installing this new model 'G' burner.

"The people in our part of the country are now realizing the benefits of this new improved model of an automatic oil burner, for fuel oils that are rich in heat content are always available in this section at very low prices, and now, due to our own splendid storage facilities, we can supply any owner of any make of oil burner just the right grade of oil that is suited to the oil burner in their home."

What Impression do your Envelopes make?

BECAUSE our envelopes are made up fresh, made RIGHT, and printed attractively—they make a WHOLE of a good impression on those who receive them. More than just mere covers—they're "advance agents" for your firm!

"Good Envelopes Are Just Good Business"

ATLANTA ENVELOPE CO. 505-7-9-11 Stewart Ave., S. W. ATLANTA PHONE MAIN 5279

Back in 1872

General Grant re-elected president of the United States Then Whitner & Co. was 7 years old.

Since 1895 Whitner & Co. has been serving the insurance business. We will appreciate an opportunity to serve you today.

Check up on your insurance today—call us! 65 years young—that's—

Whitner & Co. Insurance Grant Bldg. WAl. 4029

Shoes Need Repairing? If so, don't forget to bring 'em to the Quick Service Shoe Shop 124 1/2 Alabama St., S. W. Phone MA. 5733 "Under Jacobs' Drug Store"

Let Us Pay Your Taxes

Under our Financing Plan Advertisement—NO INTEREST—NO PENALTY—NO RED TAPE—NO NOTES TO SIGN—NO ENDORSERS REQUIRED. SERVICE CHARGES MODERATE.

INTERSTATE BOND COMPANY 901 Rhodes-Haverty Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. The leading tax financing company of the South. Correspondents at Numerous Points in Georgia Superior Mattress Co. 835 Bankhead Ave., N. W. SATISFACTION GUARANTEED One Day Service Renovating Like New Call HEmlock 9274 H. & Stone, Prop. W. C. Sanders, Mgr.

Burford, Hall & Smith American Elevator Service INSPECTION—REPAIRS NEW EQUIPMENT Phone WAlnut 8890 Red Rock Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Announcing the Opening of Our 1931 Hatching Season

Baby Chicks Custom Hatching ATLANTA HATCHERY 1968 DeKalb Ave. Phone for Prices DE. 1811

Fuel Oil for All Burners

WILLIAMS OILOMATIC HEATING Model J Only Oil-O-Matic Measures

RANDALL BROS., INC. Fuel Drop by Drop FUEL OIL DEPT. 2158 Piedmont Ave. Phone HE. 9840-5132 Authorized Oil-O-Matic Dealer

GAIN IN USE OF MILK CUTS DEATH RATE HERE

Doctors for ages have been recommending the drinking of pure milk by children and invalids, as their knowledge of the human body and its physical functions qualifies them to prescribe a milk diet under many circumstances.

A survey in the Atlanta territory a few years ago by government health officials disclosed the fact that the people in this section were drinking less than half as much milk per capita as the people of the north and west. An active milk campaign was then led by the government, state, county and city health authorities, ably assisted by the Atlanta newspapers, and the good results were quickly seen in the lower death rate of infants and children.

Encouraged by a better understanding of the milk situation, and realizing the important and increasing part the dairymen would play in the good and welfare of his customers and friends, a few live ones among them, after a number of preliminary called meetings, organized the Georgia Pure Milk League, and their association now numbers about 140 of the most prominent and influential dairymen, farmers and citizens of Fulton, DeKalb, Cobb, Campbell, Clayton, Milton and Gwinnett counties.

Shortly after the organization of this Georgia Pure Milk League, they drew up resolutions of their own that went farther into the care, feeding and housing of their milk cows than the various health authorities required. Pride then became a factor, too, in the buildings and their surroundings, and now some of the very best dairy barns in the entire country may be seen within 15 or 20 minutes' ride from Five Points.

Every member of the Georgia Pure Milk League guarantees his milk is produced in the cleanest way possible, and they all extend a standing invitation to all their customers, or anyone else interested, to come out to see them at milking time.

FOR SALE

5 and 10-Acre TRACTS

Between East Point and Atlanta--

(Just Off Main Highway)

Small Down Payment, Balance $15 Per Month

There are 52 acres in the entire tract. It is partly wooded and two perpetual streams wind through it.

Just the place for you and your pet hobby—maybe it is raising chickens.

You must see it to appreciate it. Call—

Phone WA. 2162

Lipsecomb-Weyman-Chapman Co. 58 Marietta St., N. W. "Where Service and Values are Paramount"

Knight-Luttrell Iron Company Incorporated

Scrap Iron, Metals and Rubber 972 Avon Ave., S. W. Atlanta, Ga. Telephone WE. 0200

DEALERS EVERYWHERE Sell the Couch Collar

The horse collar that stands a lot of punishment—a collar that gives the planter more service, stands the hot sun, rain, perspiration and all kinds of rough handling.

For over 37 years Couch Cotton Collars and Backbands have been money makers for dealers and money savers for Southern farmers.

Watch your stock, Mr. Dealer. On this nationally known line of high quality Couch Collars and Backbands. Your jobber can always supply your needs, hence you can always supply the planter.

Couch Bros. Mfg. Co. ATLANTA, GEORGIA

Announcing the Opening of Our 1931 Hatching Season

Baby Chicks Custom Hatching ATLANTA HATCHERY 1968 DeKalb Ave. Phone for Prices DE. 1811

Fuel Oil for All Burners

WILLIAMS OILOMATIC HEATING Model J Only Oil-O-Matic Measures

RANDALL BROS., INC. Fuel Drop by Drop FUEL OIL DEPT. 2158 Piedmont Ave. Phone HE. 9840-5132 Authorized Oil-O-Matic Dealer

---

Funeral Notices

FOLSON—The friends of Mrs. E. C. Folson are invited to attend the funeral of their daughter this (Monday) afternoon at 3 o'clock at the graveside in View cemetery. Harry G. Poole, funeral director.

FOLSON—The friends and relatives of Miss Mollie Benson, Mrs. M. Pierce, Mrs. W. R. Benson, Mrs. J. Benson, Charlotte, N. C.; Annie Benson, Millen, Ga.; Jane Benson, Titusville, Fla.; and their families are invited to attend the funeral of Miss Mollie Benson (Monday) morning at 10 o'clock from the chapel of Ayres & Lowndes, Rev. S. T. Senter officiating. Interment Barnesville, Georgia.

MBRELI—The friends of Mr. Mrs. Walter Wallace Kimbrell No. 88 Duval circle, are invited to the funeral of their son, Walter Kimbrell, this (Monday) morning at 10:30 o'clock from the residence of the All Saints' Episcopal church, Willis W. Memminger will officiate. The interment will be in the city churchyard. Harry G. Poole, funeral director.

WARREN—The relatives and friends of Mrs. J. E. B. Warren (Mrs. M. Mrs. T. W. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Warren, all of Stone Mountain, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Warren, Atlanta, Mr. and Mrs. R. Dewberry of Ellenton, S. C. and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Thomas, of Augusta, are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. J. E. B. Warren (Monday) morning at 11 o'clock from the residence of Mr. Charles Singleton will officiate.

[illegible]

erry, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Tucker, of Atlanta; and Mrs. H. H. Tucker, of Wilson. N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tucker, of Montgomery, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Tucker, of Cincinnati. Others are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. B. Tucker tomorrow (Tuesday) morning at one o'clock (eastern time) at the Baptist church, corner of Lee. E. J. Kelley, funeral director, statement Smyrna Camp Ground, White & Co., funeral directors, charge.

and Mrs. B. W. B. York, Carrollton, La., and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McLaughlin, Dallas, are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. W. S. Price, this (Monday) morning at 10 o'clock from the South Avenue Baptist Church, Rev. Jack Price officiating. Interment New Cannon cemetery, Dallas. G. A. Awtry & Lowney company.

IN STON.—The friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Johnson, Mr. John P. Johnson, and Mrs. Clarence Lixey, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Evans, Mrs. L. E. Johnson, Mr. M. A. Talton, Mr. V. C. Talton, Mrs. Ella Stables and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bagwell are invited to attend the funeral service for Mrs. J. A. Johnson this (Monday) afternoon at 2 o'clock at Rehoboth Baptist church. Rev. C. C. Singleton will officiate.

The following gentlemen will serve as pallbearers and meet at the residence, 222 Lowell street, S. E., at 2 o'clock: Mr. Andrew S. E. Parker, Mr. Wm. H. E. Parker, Mr. Parker Weed, Mr. Emerson Williams, Mr. Marion Cain, Mr. John Smith and Mr. Will Smith. The funeral will be held at the residence in Rehoboth cemetery at 2 o'clock, February 13, 1901. S. Turner, funeral director.

North avenue, N. E., at 1:30 lock: Mr. J. W. Awtry, Mr. J. E.
Arrington, Mr. J. E. Buchanan,
C. P. Kelley, Mr. S. A. Ris
Mr. P. V. Jackson. Interment in the cemetery. Awtry witnesses.

AWTRY & LOWNDES
Funeral Directors
1401 ATLANTIC ST. W. 1066

Bond & Condon Co
Funeral Directors
Lady Attendant
1014 N. E. Walnut 176

BARCLAY & BRANDON
Funeral Directors
Ambulance Service
Every Modern Convenience

(COLORED.)

GG—Mrs. Marie Gregg, of 24
wshie street, passed to her final January 31, 1931. Funeral services to be announced later.
ley Co.

EN—Mrs. Sarah Pitts, of the rear
Briarcliff road, departed this February 1. Funeral arrangements will be announced later. Hanley Co.

TER—Mr. Green Carter, of 835
Union street, passed away February 1, at a local sanitarium. Funeral services to be announced later.
ley Co.

EN—Mr. Willie Durden, of 35
Armstrong street, departed this life

January 1, 1931. Funeral arrangements will be announced later. Hanley Co.

—The funeral services of Mrs. Anna Carr, of 45 Doray street, St. Louis, who passed away February 1, 1931, will be announced later. Hanley Co.

—MR. Ralph Jackson, of room 32 Boulevard, S. E., died suddenly February 1. Funeral services to be announced later. Hanley Co.

E—Mr. Joe Price passed away suddenly February 1, 1931. Funeral will be announced later. Hanley Co.